SPANISH ARMY REVOLTS

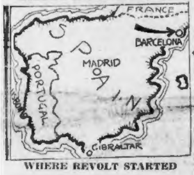
SUITCASE VICTIM'S HEAD TRACED

KING AND QUEEN

Alfonso XIII., King of Spain, and his consort Queen Victoria, granddaughter of and named for the late Queen Victoria of Britain.



WHERE REVOLT STARTED

Map of Spain showing Barcelona (by arrow) where revolt against premier and cabinet started.

Attention today centers upon King Alfonso of Spain, the man shot at 12 times by assassins and bombed on his wedding day but who has been a daredevil mixer and has led a gay life in foreign capitals, particularly in Paris.

King Alfonso, debonair and sporty, has escaped death so often since he became old enough to appreciate his responsibility as a monarch, he has been declared to have a "charmed life."

Incidentally, he has been a gay

SPANIARDS REVOLT; JOINED BY TROOPS

Barcelona, Sept. 13 (A.P.)—A state of siege was proclaimed here at 11.15 o'clock this morning, and the Catalan military authorities took possession of power in this city.

It is stated here that several garrisons, notably those in Madrid, Saragossa and Seville, have adhered to the military movement, which now must be recognized as a regular coup d'etat.

A communique issued by the military says proceedings will be brought against the minister of foreign affairs and the president of the council (the premier), and that a government will be established under the military authorities.

The movement, the communique declares, is loyal to the King, being directed not against the sovereign but the government.

The normal life of Barcelona is proceeding.

The main telephone exchange was occupied by a band of men understood to be headed by Captain-General Riviera.

CENSORS IN COMMAND

A censorship has been established under the military authorities.

Documents have been made public affirming that legal proceedings have already been opened against the foreign minister and Premier Alhucemas.

It is reported that Santiago Alba, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, is under arrest at San Sebastian.

A document addressed to all Spaniards and signed by Captain-General Riviera was published at 2 o'clock A. M. It criticises the present government and stigmatizes the professional politicians for seizing the power and annihilating the will of the King.

Owing to this situation, the docu-

LUIS FIRPO WILL WIN CRITIC TELLS CONWAY

By JACK CONWAY

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 13.—Luis Firpo, his giant body showing physical fitness, rested upon the rubbing board as Dan Washington rubbed his supple muscles and told how he would conquer Jack Dempsey in their battle for the world's heavyweight championship at the Polo Grounds, New York, tomorrow night.

We pushed our way through a throng of admiring South Americans who were having their ring idol autograph pictures of himself as he rested.

The writer greeted Firpo in Spanish. The challenger looked up quickly. His eyes brightened, the sullen look left his face, he showed a set of white teeth which glistered.

"Compra usted Espanol?" (do you understand Spanish?)

Firpo asked the question with great interest. We confessed we had studied Spanish for three years and could speak it a little bit.

"You are the first American newspaperman who has ever interviewed me in my native tongue," continued Firpo with great enthusiasm. "I am so glad you have come. I like to hear an American talk my language. Now I won't have to bother with the

CRAMER 'HOPS OFF' FOR GULF-TO-CANADA RECORD

Houston, Tex., Sept. 13.—Parker D. Cramer hopped off at 6:30 o'clock today at Ellington Field near here in an attempt to shatter the Gulf-to-Canada non-stop flight record, made recently by Lieutenant Scotty Crocker.

Cramer's destination is Clarion, Pa., 75 miles north of Philadelphia and about 1225 miles from Houston on an aeroplane.

Cramer's machine is of standard type, but will carry only 700 pounds. For the past six months he has been working on the plane. He has re-arranged fuel tanks, which is the basis of his effort to make the flight.

He removed the old gas tank and put a Dehaviland 90-gallon tank in its place. He put a second container in the space occupied by the passenger seat and built a third on the upper wing, shaping it to where it will offer little resistance to air pressure. At the tail of the machine he placed his fourth tank.

The flight started with 172 gallons of gas and ten gallons of reserve oil. The last hour and a half of the trip will be covered in the dark, Cramer estimates. No lights will be at the landing field.

BULGAR REVOLT THREATENED; 'RED' LEADERS SEIZED IN RAID

Sofia, Sept. 13 (I.N.S.).—Leaders of the Bulgarian Communists are being arrested. Reports from various quarters today told of more than a score of such arrests.

The Bulgarian government is said to possess evidence that the Communists, under instructions from Moscow, are planning a counter-revolution.

BEAN BLOWER CAUSES DEATH OF BOY AT PLAY

Central Falls, R. I., Sept. 13.—Bean blowing, the time-worn boyish prank, was responsible for the almost instantaneous death of a six-year-old boy here. The little chap, John K. Wane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wane of No. 148 Sylvan street fell while at play. A tin bean blower entered his neck and the jugular vein was severed.

Gives Twice the Heat Without Coal or Wood
New Burner Burns Oil in Any Stove—Cheaper Than Coal or Wood
A wonderful new burner which works in any coal or wood stove is the proud achievement of the International Heating Company, 115 So. 14th Street, Dept. 3396, St. Louis, Mo. This remarkably simple and inexpensive invention heats stove and oven in half the time and does away with all the dirt, ashes and drudgery of using coal or wood. It gives one of the hottest and quickest fires known, controlled by a simple valve. It is absolutely safe and can be put into any stove in a few minutes. The manufacturers offer to send this remarkable invention on 30 days' trial to any reader of this paper. They want agents. Write them today.—Advertisement.

Flood of Money Is Being Placed on Champ; Odds for K. O. Are 7 to 5

By SID MERCER

Written for Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, Sept. 13.—A flood of Dempsey money has tilted the price on the champion back to 3 to 1.

On Monday and Tuesday the odds had declined to 2½ to 1, but the backers of Firpo held aloof.

So much Dempsey money was in evidence today in the financial district that the old price was quoted, and there was a rush on the part of Firpo supporters to grab the more attractive odds.

The odds on Dempsey to win by a knockout lengthened to 8 to 5. A week ago this was a 6 to 5 bet.

Fried & Co., No. 20 Broad street, reported brisk betting.

The largest single wager made by this firm was one of $9,000 against $4,000.

Today this firm is holding $15,000 to place on Dempsey in whole or in part at odds of 3 to 1.

Fried & Co's price on a knockout by Dempsey is 7 to 5.

32 DOPE ARRESTS IN CENTRAL N. Y. CITIES

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 13 (I.N.S.)—With 26 arrests in this city and six others in Utica during the night, Federal narcotic agents, assisted by the police of both cities, dealt a crushing blow early today to the Central New York Dope Trust, so-called.

The raids and roundups in the two cities came as the result of a month's investigation by a group of Federal agents. One of the men held at Utica is Karl F. Symonds, well-known Utica civil engineer, and son of a former Utica bank president. The agents claim he had nearly a pound of dope hidden in a safety deposit box.

HUNTED IN GIRL'S DEATH

DR. WILLIAM M. ROBB

BOYS RUN, COP FIRES, BUT NO BANDITS

Residents of Mattapan were excited today over what they believed to be a bandit hunt on the part of the police of that section, but which turned out to be very different.

Patrolman Roger A. Harris was seen running down Canterbury street, firing his revolver. Before him fled two figures in the darkness. Visions of gunmen, outlaws and bandits fleeing from the strong arm of the law thrilled the good people.

What really happend was that Harris came upon twelve-year old Georgie Brooks of Ridge street, weeping. He said that Wilfred Chartier and Ralph Morton, older boys, had been stoning him. Harris saw the boys skulking down the street and went in pursuit of them. The boys ran. The cop yelled "Halt!" The word only gave wings to the feet of Ralph and Wilfred. Becoming winded in the chase the officer fired three shots in the air. Ralph and Wilfred, scared white, stopped in their tracks.

BACK BAY PHYSICIAN IS SOUGHT

Dr. William M. Robb Had Auto Equipped to Carry Two Suitcases

The identity of the young woman whose dismembered body constitutes the famous Tyngsboro suitcase mystery, which has had New England agog for more than two weeks, may be known by nightfall, State police asserted today.

The missing head, they say, is in Boston.

Its whereabouts is known by a woman.

She will soon be under arrest, they promise.

Also two Boston men who are hiding important facts in the mystery.

The head, detectives say, is "within a stone's throw of Massachusetts and Huntington avenues."

In this district is located the deserted office of a doctor being sought for questioning by District Attorney Arthur K. Reading.

It is at No. 353 Massachusetts avenue. The physician sought is Dr. William M. Robb. He has been

$50,000 DIAMONDS SNATCHED FROM MESSENGER

Philadelphia, Sept. 13, (I. N. S.)—A box containing $50,000 ortwh of diamonds was stolen from a sixteen-year-old messenger boy today by bandits who attacked him in the hal of the Travand jewelry repair store while he was taking the gems there from a safety vault building. Gus Prodell, the messenger, resisted the bandits and was knocked down. The bandits escaped.

2 HURT IN AUTO CRASH; CHARGE MOTORIST DRUNK

Two men were hurt in an auto accident on Tremont street today. Melvin R. Thies of Talbot avenue, driver of one of the cars, was arrested on the charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Thies' car collided with that of Joseph Durgin of Northampton street. Harry H. Moore of Pennsylvania, a passenger in Durgin's car, and Thies were both treated for cuts and bruises.

Two other alcoholic cases were also reported by the police, one of which will have fatal results. Robert Burns, address unknown, was found by Station 2 officers in the gutter with a fractured skull and is dying at the Haymarket Relief Hospital. An unknown woman was picked up unconscious early today by Frank McCarthy, a Somerville milkman, on Medford street, Charlestown, and taken to the Haymarket Hospital.

missing since last Friday. Also his new Stutz touring car.

The car is important.

Detectives believe the suitcase which became improvised coffins for the victim's torso and arms were part of the equipment of a high class automobile.

They seek Dr. Robb for questioning only.

In New Hampshire, not many years ago, he was convicted for illegal surgery. He was fined and only escaped prison because he promised to leave the State.

QUIZ DOCTOR'S WIFE.

On the heels of today's developments came this statement from District Attorney Reading:

"We are fast closing in on all parties concerned in this shocking tragedy. The victim's identity will shortly be known."

Detectives hastened to Marlow, N. H., again today to requisition Belle Petts Robb, wife of the missing doctor. She says the doctor is in New York but she knows not where.

On Wednesday she was quizzed for three hours. New York detectives were asked to comb Manhattan for the missing doctor. His description and that of his car were wired there today.

Dr. Robb first disappeared just before the suitcases containing the hacked corpse were divulged by the sluggish Merrimac river at the Tyngsboro bridge.

It is believed they were dropped from that structure by an autoist.

He reappeared on Labor Day, two days after the gruesome find was made. He then vanished again, called at his office on Friday last and has not been seen since.

Dr. Robb left Keene, N. H., in 1917, under a promise never again to practice medicine in that State. He had been convicted of malpractice. Most of his Boston patients were women, it was learned by the police.

Two women, one of them married, called by appointment at the office of Dr. Robb early last week, only to learn the doctor was absent. One of the women, a mere girl, of Keene, N. H., refused the services of another physician, and fainted, when she learned Dr. Robb could not be found.

District Attorney Arthur K. Reading's statement follows:

"By my direction, State Officers Stokes, Fleming, Ferrari and O'Neill have for three days and nights been seeking the whereabouts of Dr. William M. Robb, No. 353 Massachusetts avenue, Back Bay.

"Incessant investigation in Boston, Springfield, Keene, N. H., and Marlboro, N. H., and in other communities have thus far proved futile.

"Mrs. Robb, when questioned at her home in Marlboro, N. H., has been either unable or unwilling to aid the police in their quest, stating that her husband went to New York on Thursday, but did not leave his address.

"She has further stated that she does not know for how long a period Dr. Robb will remain away from home and that she will have to hear from him before she can communicate with him.

"Dr. Robb will be called upon to explain circumstances connected with the disappearance of two suitcases similar to those in which a torso and parts of a woman's body were found in the Merrimac River near Tyngsboro on September 1 and 2. Any further data regarding this investigation which can properly be given to the press will be issued from this office."

A special grand jury is in session at East Cambridge. The session will be continued from day to day, county officials stated, until the suitcase murder is cleared up.

Dr. Robb was not in Boston at the time the murder was committed, it is now known.

Contrary to his custom, the last time Dr. Robb took his car from the garage, he had the gasoline tank filled, and charged to his account. According to the police, this was the first time he did not pay cash for gasoline.

An August 30 or 31, a few days before the Tyngsboro murder, Dr. Robb left his office in his car without notifying his patients or other tenants of the building.

He was seen in the vestibule of his office, on his return, by a young man who claimed to have business with him.

MANY WOMEN PATIENTS.

According to the young man, Dr. Robb appeared to be nervous, and was not disposed to talk business. He rang the bell to his apartment, and a woman opened the door for him. The young man believed the woman was the doctor's wife.

Failing to obtain an interview, the young man determined to return later. When he returned, Dr. Robb had again departed, without leaving word.

Dr. Robb was next seen last Friday, when he was at the Massachusetts avenue address for only a short time.

During his absence, according to the police, who interviewed other tenants of the building, many women patients either telephoned tenants of the building, or called at the office, in an effort to see Dr. Robb.

In each instance the women claimed to have had appointments, and were unable to understand why they had not been informed of the doctor's absence.

A cardboard clock on Dr. Robb's door indicates that the doctor is "In." The hands on the clock point half-way between seven and eight o'clock, Friday evening.

FAINTS AT HIS OFFICE.

Early last week, following Labor Day, a lodger in the building where Dr. Robb's office is located, according to the police, found two women waiting in the vestibule to see Dr. Robb.

One of these women fainted in the vestibule, and the tenant and the second woman tried to give her assistance. When a Dr. Larson, with offices across the street, was called, the woman refused his treatment, and declared she would accept treatment from no one except Dr. Robb.

The other two women engaged a room for her at a nearby hotel. The woman told the police she was twenty years old, and that she was a member of a prominent family of Keene, N. H.

Police declare the presence of the New Hampshire woman indicates that Dr. Robb kept in touch with his former woman patients and declare that point is not without significance.

WAS FINED $1,000.

In 1917, after being convicted of a charge of malpractice in Keene and in order to escape a prison sentence, Dr. Robb promised never to practice in New Hampshire and was allowed to depart after paying a fine of $1,000. Prior to 1917, he resigned from the Cheshire County Medical Society before charges against him could be acted upon.

ROADSTER WHICH WAS DEATH TRAP

Top photo—Diagram of tragedy at Metropolitan Water Reservoir, Weston, in which one man lost his life and a possibility that another victim perished. First intimation of accident was obtained when police saw outline of submerged car about 50 feet from the Ash Street bridge. The machine and the body of one victim were soon recovered.

LEGION DELEGATES MEET SATURDAY

More than 300 delegates and alternates to the American Legion Convention next month from Middlesex County will assemble in pre-convention caucus at the A. P. Gardner Auditorium, State House, Boston, on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Stephen C. Garrity of Lowell presiding.

Plans for the county's participation at the convention will be discussed and resolutions acted upon. The names of Middlesex County members who will be candidates for department offices will be presented, but, acting upon the custom adopted several years ago, no candidate will be endorsed until arrival in the convention city.

Middlesex County will as usual have the largest number of delegates in attendance at the convention, including five department officials.

Following the business session a reunion and banquet will be held at the Boston City Club at 6:30 o'clock under the direction of Marshal William J. Keville.

AUTO PLUNGES IN RIVER AND DRIVER DIES

At least one man was drowned when an automobile plunged into the Metropolitan Reservoir near the Ash street bridge, Weston, after a wild ride, in which, the police say, liquor played a part.

The drowned man is believed to be A. M. Horan, twenty-one years old, of No. 207 Audubon road, Back Bay, proprietor of the Horan Church Goods and Supply Company of No. 634 Harrison avenue.

Horan, the police say, figured in a five-mile automobile chase in Newton two weeks ago, during which five shots were fired at him by the police. He failed to appear in Newton Court for the trial.

GIRL MAY BE VICTIM.

The body and the automobile were recovered from the water by the Metropolitan Park police. The authorities believe that there was at least one other occupant of the car at the time of the accident (possibly a girl) and are dragging the reservoir in the possibility of finding it.

On the plot of grass near the embankment where the car plunged into the water the police found an empty liquor bottle, a cheap watch, cap and scarf believed to have belonged to the drowned man.

IN THE WATER 12 HOURS

The police theory is that young Horan and his companion, if there was one, parked his car on the plot of grass where the articles were found and had alighted to drink liquor.

Then returning to the car, the police believe, Horan started it and instead of returning to the road, drove straight into the reservoir. Automobile tracks leading from the road to the water could be discerned at the scene of the accident.

ASK COOLIDGE AID AGAINST PANAMA DEAL

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Cosmopolitan News Service Corr.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Charges that a combination of American business interests, to be financed by J. P. Morgan & Co. and Armour & Co., the packers, are engaged in a scheme to exploit the 500,000 people of Panama and to make millions for themselves at the expense of the American public, have been laid before President Coolidge.

The charges have come as the result of the appeal made to the President by Ricardo Alfaro minister from Panama, to check the scheme by which the combination of private financial interests would gain control of valuable concessions now operated in the zone by the United States government.

CLAIM WEEKS IN PLAN.

The charges state that Secretary of War Weeks and Governor Morrow of the Panama Canal Zone are arranging to sell and lease the government property to Charles R. Strotz, who represents the big business combine.

Dwight Morrow of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and who is a brother of Governor Morrow, the United States official in charge of the zone, is said to have been in Washington very recently in the interest of completing the negotiations.

The United States government owns and operates the Panama Railroad. It is the oldest of trans-continental lines, built in 1855 to accommodate the traffic which resulted from the '49 gold strike in California.

CONCESSIONS MANY

The railroad operates all manner of concessions. These include laundries, commissaries, ice, soap and sausage factories, refrigerators and packing houses, cooperage and blacksmith shops, baggage transfers, stables and garages, principally in the cities of Panama and Colon.

It is charged that Strotz is to get 900 head of valuable cattle and big dairies which cost nearly $900,000 for about $450,000.

Spurns Stillman's 'Light o' Love'

Today

A Dull Day, Brethren
He Who Dares, Takes
Renfrew Is Here
Gamblers Worry

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company.

A VERY dull news day. Cables indicate Germany's decision to surrender absolutely, cease resistance in the Ruhr and let the French have their way. When you lose your fight and are disarmed you have to let the other side decide for you. Then comes another war, and it's reversed—proud man is a goose.

MUSSOLINI FINDS that Europe is willing to do almost anything except FIGHT. Anybody with initiative and energy may quite safely go ahead and do what he pleases. Initiative and energy are not lacking in Mussolini. He has been storing them up for years, and for a while, at least, he will get the Italians what they want, or think they want. There is no doubt at all that they are entitled to Fiume.

THE PRINCE OF WALES, under the name of Baron Renfrew, arrived in Canada yesterday to rest on a ranch. In spite of his disguise a crowd met him. The English know the value of Canada now, and in future. The real England may be Canada some time, with the British Isles maintained as a central business office in London.

As the Great Roman Empire saw the seat of power change from Italy to Constantinople, so Britons of another century may see their Imperial Parliament, and whatever is left of the royal family, transplanted in Montreal or Australia.

THE STOCK MARKET got nervous yesterday and fell a little. Brokers said: "The good news was out." It would take a detective to define that GOOD news, after the Japanese earthquake, which cost millions. Poor buying orders in steel, which is the skeleton and framework of modern industry, business and building, may have frightened the speculators.

"Don't gamble; don't speculate, Study values."

Gamblers on the bear side were selling steel short. That's rather dangerous, especially as regards the big company. It may give the bears a twist some day.

AN EGYPTIAN PRINCESS, Marie Marguerite Fahmy, who killed her husband, tells the judge at the Old Bailey, in London, that her husband put his hand on the Koran and swore, "You shall die by my hand."

Here in America a gentleman accused of murder is also explaining to the court that it was necessary for him to kill another to keep his own life.

It is hard to answer that kind of defence now. In old days they did it simply, saying to the accused: "Take this piece of red-hot iron in your hand. If it burns you, you are guilty. If you are innocent, the Lord will perform a miracle to prove your innocence and the red-hot iron won't burn."

That kind of trial wouldn't suit the accused today.

THE BRITISH are worrying about their business, and perhaps that makes us worry. Too many workingmen out of a job are listening to radical speeches near the Marble Arch. The English are wise enough to let them talk, knowing the value of a safety valve, which we haven't yet learned in the United States.

Too many men idle, for too long a time, may create pressure too powerful even for the talking safety valve.

WHAT WORRIES ENGLAND, a country absolutely NOT self-supporting, is the fact that in August the excess of imports over exports was more than twenty-two million pounds, against eight million pounds in July. If England does not sell goods she's gone.

FORTY-TWO OLD FRENCH snuff boxes, belonging to the Imperial Russian family, have been sold in London for $50,000. One Louis IV. box, with a picture of Frederick the Great on the lid and a little watch at the bottom, given to Voltaire by Frederick, sold for $5,000.

It would be worth more than that to listen back 150 years and hear what Voltaire said, as he held that box with his left thumb and forefinger and dipped into it with his right hand. Some things he said about Frederick, after they had their fight, would be among the most amusing.

DEFENCE OF FRENCH BY CONSUELO

New York, Sept. 13.—In a letter from Mrs. Consuelo Vanderbilt Balsan which the New York Herald publishes today, the former Duchess of Marlborough—daughter of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and the late W. K. Vanderbilt — challenges statements contained in an interview of French-American relations the paper recently printed as having come from Peter Knight of Tampa, Fla., after he had made a three months tour of Europe.

The interview "completely misrepresented the average Frenchman's feelings toward the people of this country," Mrs. Balsan wrote from Beacon Towers, Port Washington, Long Island. She and her husband, Colonel Jacques Balsan, have been visiting her mother there since they arrived in America, a week ago. Mrs. Balsan writes:

"I cannot doubt Mr. Knight's statement that he 'had not found a single Frenchman who was willing to give America the slightest credit for her part in the war.' I can only deplore the fact that the Frenchman he met and talked to misrepresented the feelings of their countrymen.

"'France will never forget what America has done,' said Monsieur Clemenceau. They are words that have greeted me on every side and they are not spoken for political reasons."

CHARGE BROKER STOLE $9,700

John G. Williams of Taunton, who was a member of the defunct Boston brokerage house of Burgess, Lang & Company, was arrested today on a secret indictment charging him with larceny of $9700 from customers of the firm.

The heads of the house and H. F. Palmer have already been arrested on similar charges. The firm failed for approximately $1,000,000 about a year ago.

MALDEN ROBBER CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Julius Herbert, twenty-two years old, of Magnolia street, Malden, was captured, and a companion escaped, when they were interrupted robbing the home of Mrs. Mollie Smith, No. 129 Boylston street, Malden, by Mrs. Sarah Brodsky of that address.

Mrs. Brodsky, whose apartment is on the first floor, went to the second floor to visit Mrs. Smith. She found the door locked. When she heard strange men's voices in the apartment, she was convinced they were robbers.

Her shouts soon attracted neighbors. The frightened burglars tried to buck the crowd and escape. One succeeded. Herbert was captured in a flying tackle by Max Feldman, also of Boylston street.

According to the police, Herbert confessed three other attempted robberies, having entered the homes of Max Schultz, Hyman Greenburg and Hyman Frank, all in the same neighborhood. He was booked on four counts of house breaking.

NATIONS PLAN FOR CRIME DETECTION

Washington, Sept. 13.—The United States in co-operation with the principal European nations is planning the establishment of an International system for the location and identification of criminals and fugitives.

Exchanges of information regarding crimes and criminals, including finger prints, measurements and other identification data between the nations entering the agreement is contemplated. Extradition of criminals will be conducted formally by the State Department as in the past, but the new plan for exchange of information between heads of the national crime detecing agencies is expected to be of great assistance to all of the nations involved.

GIRL ADMITS SHE KILLED PRINCE

Mme. Fahny Faints in Court After Describing Tragedy in London Hotel

Universal Cable.

London, Sept. 13.—The great crowd that filled Old Bailey to hear Mme. Marie Marguerite Fahmy tell her story of killing her husband, Fahmy Bey, pseudo Egyptian prince, was thrilled when the pretty French woman collapsed under the grilling of the King's attorney and had to be carried from the court.

Speaking in French, Mme. Fahmy swore that she had been beaten cruelly and imprisoned and tortured for months by Fahmy Bey, and that on the night of the tragedy in the Savoy Hotel he had repeated his frequent threat to kill her.

Earlier in the night, she said, he had beaten her, and later, when he tried to break into her bedroom while a terrible thunderstorm was going on early in the morning of July 10, she was seized with the fear that he had at last come to kill her and she pulled the trigger of the revolver and killed him.

ADMITS LOVE CHILD.

Many noted guests were in the hotel and heard the shot. Among them were the Maharajah of Kelyurthala and Barney Bernard, the American comedian. The rajah was giving a dinner party that was startled by the report.

After being submitted to a fierce grilling by the prosecutor, during which she admitted that her fifteen-year-old daughter, in a convent here, was born before she married her first husband, a Frenchman, Mme. Fahmy, who has been weeping throughout the session, suddenly fainted, and the court recessed.

During the grilling the prosecutor brought out all of Mme. Fahmy's past life, and also had her tell the story of her desperate attempts to escape from Egypt, where she had gone to marry Fahmy Bey.

Mme. Fahmy swore that shortly after the marriage Fahmy Bey had come to her with a copy of the Koran and had sworn on the Mohammedan Sacred Book that he would kill her.

After the trial resumed, the judge ruled out the questions affecting Mme. Fahmy's past life, including one, in which it was asked if her father had been a cab-driver in Paris. The court held, with the defence counsel, that the examination must be confined to the tragedy and the causes leading directly to it, and that the only effect of the prosecutor's other questions would be to prejurice the jury against the beautiful prisoner.

Before court adjourned, Mme. Fahmy swooned a second time and was again carried from the courtroom.

PARDON SOUGHT FOR DOCTOR

Application has been made to Governor Channing Cox to pardon Dr. Horace G. MacKerrow, colored physician of Worcester, serving a sentence of four to five years at the State Prison at Charlestown for an attack on Lee Shee, wife of Jong Log Shee, Worcester Chinese restaurant owner.

The physician was sentenced November 27, 1922.

The attack on the Chinese woman was alleged to have been made at the physician's office, where she had gone for treatment.

DISHER FUNERAL AT FAMILY HOME

The body of Mrs. Elsie Cheney Disher, heiress, slain Monday by her husband, Hiley Peter Disher, who then shot himself, has been sent to the Cheney family home in South Manchester, Ct., for funeral services there. Disher's body was sent to relatives in Indianapolis, Ind.

LOVE BALM DEBTOR IS SET FREE

Mrs. White, Unable to Pay $5,000 for Alienation, Six Months in Jail

Providence, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Hattie J. White, widow, has just been freed after six months in the County Jail here. She went to jail because she could not pay an award of damages amounting to $5,000 to Mrs. Alice Jackson for alienating the affections of the latter's husband. After her release Mrs. White fell fainting in the arms of Hodgson Jackson, the husband, when released from confinement after taking the poor debtor's oath in the Twelfth District Court.

Her leg was cut on the stone steps of the court house and she was carried back into the court and restored before she finally went away with her daughter and Jackson.

The case was tried in February, last, and Mrs. Jackson obtained a verdict of $5,000. Mrs. White could not pay and Mrs. Jackson had her jailed. Under the law, Mrs. Jackson had to pay the board of the prisoner. This she did cheerfully for six months and was apparently ready to go on indefinitely.

Recently Hodgson Jackson engaged new counsel to try to obtain Mrs. White's release. The new attorney, John R. Higgins, at once instituted proceedings which resulted in Mrs. White taking the poor debtor's oath, and secured her release.

EX-POLICE CHIEF OF WORCESTER DIES

Worcester, Sept. 13.—David A. Matthews, former chief of the Worcester Police Department, veteran of the Civil War and Indian wars in the regular army and holder of the Congressional medal of honor, is dead after an acute illness of two weeks.

BANKER'S EX-WIFE BALKS ON AIDING FLO LEEDS

New York, Sept. 13.—Believing that the cast-off former "light o' love" of her husband had attempted to create sympathy for herself through her four-year-old son, Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, it was learned, has definitely refused to have anything to do with Mrs. Florence Leeds, mother of Jay Ward Leeds.

This became known following a flying visit to New York by Mrs. Stillman from her Canadian home. Few persons knew of her arrival in New York except her attorneys, who were served recently with copies of the record of Stillman's appeal from the decision of the referee in the case.

AID ASKED.

Mrs. Leeds a few months ago besought Mrs. Stillman's assistance in caring for Jay Ward (Sturdy) Leeds, pleading Stillman's desertion of herself as a reason for assistance. At that time Mrs. Stillman made it plain that if Mrs. Leeds was actually in the plight she described Mrs. Stillman would take the boy into her own home and raise him with her own children.

Returning to New York, however, Mrs. Stillman learned that while professing poverty, Mrs. Leeds was said to have brought in from abroad jewelry valued at more than $50,000, that she is the possessor of an apartment on Park avenue worth nearly $50,000 more and also is the owner of various automobiles.

OFFERED $50,000.

It is said Mrs. Still also expressed amazement at Mrs. Leeds' appeal for her assistance in view of the offer Mrs. Leeds admitted she had from Stillman of $50,000 more in "moral settlement."

Mrs. Stillman is said to have stated:

"I am bringing my children up to recognize Jay Ward as their half-brother. I want the boy to progress, for I do not wish it to be said to my children that their half-brother has developed badly.

"I'd be glad to take him and bring him up in my family, but he must be completely under my control if I do."

PRINCE EDWARD LEAVES QUEBEC FOR RANCH

Quebec, Sept. 13.—Baron Renfrew, started to day to a ranch in Alberta. The Baron is the Prince of Wales, traveling incognito for a month's vacation. He arrived here on the Empress of France.

The Prince was dressed in a light gray suit, a wrinkled gray slouched hat and a soft collar.

Sir Godfrey said the Prince would make no speeches while in Canada, unless it be to unruly calves he may help brand, and that his social activities will be limited to skipping rope with the cowgirls. He plans to return to England, October 13, and will not visit the United States.

MORE NEW ENGLANDERS REPORTED SAFE IN QUAKE

Washington, Sept. 13.—Ambassador Woods in an undated radio message apparently sent from Tokio several days ago reported to the State Department that the relief situation in the Japanese capital was "now thoroughly in hand." Five American destroyers, the ambassador said, had arrived at Yokohama from Darien.

Another long list of Americans "definitely known to be safe, was forwarded to the State Department by Consul Dickover at Kobe. It includes N. Carpenter, Massachusetts; George Converse, Vermont; the Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Kruler; Captain J. W. Laughton and wife; Gertrude E. Ryder, Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Stadman, Massachusetts; Marybelle Claridge; Mildred Paine, Miss Otts, Gertrude Pemperrdenn, Caroline S. Peckham, Louise Peary, Massachusetts; Vida Post, Fehr Vera, Edith F. Wilcox, Rhode Island, Jessie M. G. Wilkinson, Massachusetts.

TULSA SHERIFF ACCUSED AS PRO-KLAN

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 13.—Charging that Tulsa County's three jury commissioners, sheriff and the police commissioner of Tulsa are dominated by the Ku Klux Klan, Governor J. C. Walton demanded the resignation of the jury commissioners. He asked of citizens to call upon the sheriff and police commissioner to retire, in presenting the terms upon which he will revoke his declaration of martial law here.

"We have reached the point where the issue is the survival of invisible government or the permanency of our own visible government. I am going to clean that situation up if I have to stand out alone and let them shoot at me," he said.

TALE OF MURDER IS TOLD BY DAUGHERTY

Washington, Sept. 13 (I.N.S.)—In a report to President Coolidge on dry law enforcement, Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty revealed what he termed "one of the most tragic epochs in American history relative to law enforcement."

In it he pointed out a tendency to disrespect Federal prohibition laws and the difficulties under which Department of Justice agents had labored.

"The Department of Justice has been called upon to prosecute a member of the judiciary, prominent members of the American bar, high officials of the Federal and State government, multi-millionaires, and scions of the nation's aristocracy," he says in a preliminary survey:

72,489 CONVICTED

The report reveals also, he adds, "a sordid story of assassination, bribery and corruption that found its way into the very sanctums wherein the inviolability of the law was presumed to have been held sacred."

In spite of these handicaps, he declared the Volstead law is being more strictly enforced than ever before and under a plan which he proposes may be even more more effectively enforced.

As a record of accomplishment, he reported 72,489 convictions, fines imposed exceeding $12,000,000 and jail sentences totalling 3,000 years.

In bringing this about, he let it be known for the first time that agents of the Department of Justice played a major role in securing convictions and that they are everywhere under instructions to cooperate with the dry agents. This policy will be pursued, he said, as will the new plan of sending Federal judges and district attorneys from one circuit to another until law violators may be promptly tried and convicted.

TO BE MORE DRASTIC.

At the same time Mr. Daugherty submitted his report, a spokesman for the President denied reports of friction in the administration of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

Officials let it be known that the administration will change its policy on dry law enforcement only to the extent of making it more drastic.

NOT LOVE THIEF, SAYS LYNN THEATRE MAN

"I have never stolen anything in my life and surely would not steal anybody's wife."

So declares Elias M. Lowe, Lynn movie theatre manager, named as defendant in a $50,000 suit brought by Arthur J. Richard of No. 117 Stoughton street, Dorchester, for alienation of his wife's affections.

"It is ridiculous," Mr. Lowe said. "These charges that Mr. Richard makes against me. Surely it is a joke. He knows deep in his heart that I have got nothing to do with this affair. I have never met Mr. Richard or even know anything about Mrs. Richard's affairs, nor am I interested.

EX-ALDERMAN JOHN H. LEE PASSES AWAY

John H. Lee, former Boston Alderman, and for years a prominent figure in local politics, died at his home, No. 10 Parsons street, Brighton, after an illness which began in June. He was in his seventy-seventh year.

He is survived by his widow, a grandson, John H. Lee, and a granddaughter, Georgianna Lee.

Lee started in life as a newspaperman. He entered politics in 1868, and at once became a leader in the Brighton district.

At various times he served in the old Common Council, the Board of Aldermen, was chairman of the Democratic Ward Committee in Brighton for thirty-four years, president of the Democratic City Committee, a member of the Democratic State Committee, the Boston Election Board, and held many other offices.

He was at one time mentioned as a candidate for mayor, but declined to become a candidate. He was identified with many charitable enterprises in his district.

Several years ago during a campaign for funds for the St. Elizabeth Hospital, Lee was chairman of his district. He raised a total of $12,800, the largest amount collected by any chairman.

"MISS BOSTON" BACK FROM ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 13.—"I have had the time of my life and as long as I live the memory of your beautiful city and the wonderful hospitality that has been shown me will be a sweet remembrance."

Miss Margaret Black

These were the parting words of Miss Margaret Black, the "Miss Boston" of 1923, as she boarded the Pennsylvania railroad train for her home.

"Miss Boston" has been the guest of the Haddon Hall Hotel since last Tuesday week and she declared that "the past ten days have been all too short." She is the last of the seventy-four inter-city beauties to leave the resort.

"Miss Boston" enjoyed the greyhound races as the guest of Dr. I. N. Griscom, president of the Atlantic County Kennel Club. She took a great interest in the dogs and was honored as one of the judges during the evening. "Miss Boston" is the first woman in New Jersey to judge a race.

Roxbury K. of C. Elects

At the annual election of the Roxbury Council 123, Knights of Columbus, Charles W. Nicholson was made Grand Knight and John McCormack, Boston University law student, Deputy Grand Knight. Their election was unanimous. Grand Knight Nicholson appointed Ambrose Woods as Lecturer.

WEYMOUTH PLANS HOSPITAL BENEFIT

More room is needed at the Weymouth Hospital where from 10 to 20 babies are born each week.

To provide funds for the hospital's enlargement a committee has arranged a gala field day Saturday on the Weymouth fair grounds. The Shriners' Band of Boston has been engaged. Trotters, pacers and runners will compete. A daring aviator has contributed his services, and a fireworks company has donated 50 per cent. of the pieces to be set off in the evening.

WIFE HEEDS ADVICE IN HUSBAND'S SONG

New York, Sept. 13 (Universal Service).—"You know you belong to somebody else, so why don't you leave me alone?"

Words and music by Eugene Kahn, professionally known as Eugene West, the popular song writer.

Mrs. Kahn applied the words to her own practical purposes, asking Supreme Court Justice William Hagarty for a divorce, charging her husband was found in a hotel room with another woman. Kahn put in no defence.

HUB MATE DIVORCED BY MOVIE ACTRESS

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 13.—Mrs. Ruby Walsh, a screen actress known professionally as Ruby Lee, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce in Superior Court here from Maurice Walsh, who is said to be a member of a well-known Boston family. Mrs. Walsh alleged in her complaint that Walsh failed to contribute toward her support.

HALTS WIFE'S PLAN TO HANG HERSELF

Worcester, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Lena Burnett, forty years old, of No. 149 Lake avenue, wife of David M. Burnett, a real estate dealer, attempted to end her life by hanging in her bedroom. The prompt action of her husband in cutting her down frustrated her attempt. Her condition is not considered serious.

Several months ago his wife had Burnett arrested on a charge of assault.

Discovering Things

We all like to discover things. A lady goes to town shopping and she finds a real bargain. How pleased she is! She tells all her neighbors about it. She wants them to share her good fortune.

In nine cases out of ten White House Coffee is a discovery. A grocer says to a customer: "Have you ever tried White House Coffee? It's fine." Or the customer sees the big square package and asks for it. Or, she reads about it in the papers. Or, a neighbor tells her about its goodness.

White House Coffee is always a discovery. As soon as its fragrance permeates the dining-room. Even before you taste it you just know it's a mighty fine cup of coffee. And in the drinking it backs up its honored name.

Just ask your grocer to send you a pound of White House Coffee today. Then, you too will be telling your friends about it. White House Coffee makes friends everywhere.

Be sure the "White House" is on every label.

1, 3 and 5-lb. packages only.

TINKHAM MEETS HUB HUNTER IN JUNGLE

When Charles P. Curtis, Jr., of Boston, ploughing along through British East Africa at the head of his safari, pulled up to camp at Rickman's Water in the Kedong Valley last July, a man with a broad smile and a spiky beard came loping through the long grass to bid him good day. It was rather like the meeting of Livingstone and Stanley, for this newcomer was Congressman George Holden Tinkham.

G. H. Tinkham

"For Heaven's sake, what are you doing here?" said each man. Each was on a hunting expedition; Mr. Curtis with his father and brother, and the Congressman all alone. Mr. Curtis was just coming out, Mr. Tinkham going in.

"But I've had great sport so far," said he. "Just tell the folks when you get home that—let's see, this is July 28th. On the 24th, on the 25th, and on the 26th, I got a leopard each night. Shot 'em out of a boma"—a shelter of thorn bushes, in which the sportsman waits for his game to come up to a dead bait anchored outside.

The Curtis party, though they had shot almost every African animal excepting the elephants, had not seen a leopard, and Mr. Curtis went to see the skins. Two of them were unusually large ones, and the third, though medium in size, was a beauty.

Mr. Tinkham had been hunting only eight days. He is traveling with Judd, the famous "white hunter," who was Roosevelt's guide, and he already had also an eland head and an oryx—which is a rare species of antelope. The Congressman was on his way into the Masai reserve, where he had located three groups of lions. He expects to get home in October.

ALDERMAN MANNING, HAVERHILL, DIES

Haverhill, Sept. 13.—Alderman Ernest A. Manning died suddenly at the home of his brother in Plainville, Ct. Acute indigestion, caused by the eating of corn, is believed the cause of death.

Dr. Perkins, Manning's family physician, said the alderman was in excellent health when he left Haverhill.

MEMBERS OF RUSKAY FIRM ARE INDICTED

New York, Sept. 13.—Indictments charging that they traded against customers' orders were returned in general sessions court against Burrill Ruskay, Eugene Greenhut, George Proctor and Joseph Shelby of the stock brokerage firm of S. S. Ruskay, which failed in 1922 for $5,000,000.

Pursued by Maniac

MISS MARY L. BAKER

Peter F. Pala, who was arrested at Waukegan, Ill., when he refused to be driven away from the country estate of Miss Mary Landon Baker, Chicago and Lake Forest heiress, was committed to the Elgin Hospital for the Insane. Pala, who attended the University of Michigan three years, had a newspaper picture of Miss Baker and held the delusion that she might intercede for him with an Ann Arbor young woman, according to his incoherent statements.

CATHOLICS RAP LAWS INVADING HOME RIGHTS

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—The tendency of the federal government to interfere in child labor regulation and participate in welfare legislation was criticised here at the National Conference of Catholic Charities by the Rev. Francis P. La Buffe, of Fordham University, New York.

He said the government was inefficient as an administrator of law, and that the most deplorable example of the futility of federal interference is the prohibition law.

Father La Buffe said the government cannot put over a law until the people are ready for it.

"If some states," he continued, "still lack child labor regulations, it is because the inhabitants are not educated up to the point to demand them. A federal amendment covering all the states would make only more law breakers."

Walter P. Kennedy of the law department of the Catholic University, Washington, D. C., declared the gradual encroachment of the law upon the home and educational institutions will bring no progress.

POLICE SEEK OWNER OF SEIZED BEER

Providence, R. I., Sept. 13.—Federal authorities and the police in North Providence are trying to determine the ownership of the 330 barrels of beer, approximately 18,000 gallons, valued at more than $10,000, seized in two storage buildings of the Benjamin Brothers' ice houses off Mineral Spring avenue, near Douglas avenue.

A bootlegger and a man prominent in North Providence politics are believed interested in the ownership.

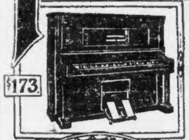
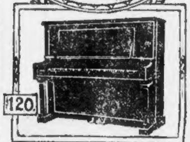
Why I Sell PIANOS So Low that I Am Talked About.

—J. P. COLLINS

PIANO SALE





New Upright Pianos
New Player Pianos
Baby Grands

Are you aware, my friends, that I am known all over Boston and New England as the man who would rather sell 100 pianos at $1 apiece profit than sell one piano at a profit of $100?

I have often been asked by piano dealers, business men and friends why I am willing to accept so small a profit on the sale of a piano.

My answer has always been, I am doing such a big business that it is absolutely necessary for me to carry and move quickly an enormous stock of pianos.

FRIENDLY TALKS WITH FRIENDLY CUSTOMERS

—By J. P. COLLINS

The other day a woman said to me: "Mr. Collins, I have been reading and hearing of your liberal treatment of customers. I bought a piano from a house and through sickness I ran behind in my payments. Can you help me save my piano which is more than half paid for?" I arranged to take over her indebtedness and give her ample time to pay for it. This is only one of many cases that come to me for help.

My business is to serve the public. I do it by keeping piano prices down—so that the every day man and woman can buy a piano without paying luxury prices for it—I have in mind the needs and circumstances of the family man. When he is out of work or has sickness in the family he knows that J. P. Collins will consider him a friend and take care of his account.

To buy a piano from J. P. Collins is INSURANCE against loss of piano through sickness, loss of work, etc. All I ask is that a man or woman is honest and willing to pay. When circumstances over which a person has no control render it difficult to meet payments, all my customers have to do is notify me and I will take care of them.

KING ALFONSO TAKES 'CENTRE OF STAGE'

charmer storming Paris with pomp and splendor and scattering gold in the bizarre all-night palaces where he has been dancing partner, and they do say petting partner, to some of the most famous actresses from the world over.

No less than a dozen American stage beauties have pirouetted on his arms during the last three years.

SNUBBED BY BORDONI.

One, Irene Bordoni, Broadway queen, snubbed him in a Paris salon when she refused to dance with him. Yet the king is the father of six children, and in his palace at Madrid has a beautiful queen who, before her marriage in 1906, was Princess Victoria Ena Eugenie, daughter of Prince Henry of Battenberg and granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria of England, for whom she was named.

The king owns an interest in at least three world-famous gambling salons, only a few weeks ago acquiring a third interest in the Deauville Casino. One of his partners was formerly a waiter.

King Alfonso spends more than $1,000,000 a year. His palace food bill alone is $14,000 a month. His father was Alfonso XII.

His mother was Queen Maria Christiana, an Austrian princess. The King was born six months after his father's death. This was on May 17, 1886. His mother acted as Queen Regent until he became of age.

STARTLING ESCAPADES.

Then he started on a career of escapades that startled all Europe. "Youth, the blood of youth," cried astounded old monarchs as the young King led a life of wine, women and song in gay Paree and elsewhere.

Repeatedly in the last fifteen years Spanish insurgents have cried for a cleanup of Royal policies and sought the King's life. Almost every mail for a time brought threats of death. But the King went about as usual undisturbed even with the knowledge he had narrowly escaped death an even dozen times.

He travels under guard in a steel armored motor car of terrific speed.

The last attempt to kill him was just ten years ago in Madrid. At times Alfonso has settled down to the business of kinging and obtained the confidence of his subjects. Until the World War he aped the Kaiser. Since then he has been more democratic, not long ago giving out an interview on what he considered the ideal formations of woman.

He said the arms of American girls are too fat. He has four sons and two daughters described as of "ideal appearance."

The king carries three valets and has a wardrobe that would require weeks to inventory.

Early in his career when the Lisbon assassins killed his close friend, King Carlos of Portugal, his wife and son, it was predicted Alfonso wouldn't live a year. He fooled the wise ones, however, and now, with an outbreak in his kingdom, one wonders if his charmed life will continue.

TROOPS SEIZE POWER IN SPAIN

ment continues, the military authorities will take the direction and responsibilities of the power to govern, either directly or through civilians.

AGAINST COMMUNISTS.

At the moment of declaring a state of siege, asserts the document, the military authority will deprive the present civil officials of their powers and assume their functions. It will seize all means of communication and forbid circulation except for business or family reasons.

The authorities of the new regime, continues the proclamation, will occupy the headquarters of the Communist and Revolutionary associations, the prisons, the banks, the electric power stations and the points at which the water supply is controlled. All suspects will be arrested.

In addition, declares the document, the leaders of the movement will seek to maintain the normal life of the country. The proclamation ends with an appeal to the patriotism of the population, entreating the military forces to give their lives to the country if necessary.

King Rushes to Madrid; Cabinet in Session

Madrid, Sept. 13. (A.P.)—Army officers at Barcelona have revolted, and martial law has been declared.

King Alfonso returned to Madrid on the Southern express at 11 o'clock this morning. The station was surrounded by troops and every precaution was taken to prevent any unauthorized persons having access to the vicinity.

Conditions in Madrid present a normal aspect, no especial agitation on the part of the people being noticed.

The Council of Ministers held a special meeting at 3 o'clock this morning to consider the situation at Barcelona. The rank and file of the army have joined in the revolt, but the navy personnel is quiet.

A sitting of the Cabinet, which was held in connection with the proclamation issued by the captain-general of the Barcelona district, lasted until the early hours of the morning, when a statement was issued to the press.

"The captain-general of Barcelona," it said, "last night proclaimed on his own responsibility a state of siege in that district, seized the communications and invited other districts to support his action.

"In order to explain this step he published a manifesto to the country declaring that the army called upon the sovereign to save Spain, and asked for the dismissal of the present ministers.

"In certain districts it appears the military forces are disposed to concur in this attitude of rebellion.

"The Cabinet is in permanent session and will maintain its position, which it will abandon only under force should the promoters of this sedition decide to follow up their policy with all its consequences.

"The King will arrive in Madrid today."

3 Portuguese Killed While Making Bombs

Oporto, Portugal, Sept. 13.—Three men manufacturing bombs were killed when the death-dealing machines exploded. A raid on another suspected house resulted in the discovery of fifty-four bombs and other arms.

King Alfonso Has Long Expected Uprising

London, Sept. 13 (AP).—Grave statements made privately in London recently by competent foreign observers who had arrived from Madrid regarding the internal situation in Spain acquire unusual interest in view of the present revolt.

It has been stated that there was a strong revolutionary party in Spain plotting to overthrow the government and months ago plans were said to have progressed so far that trouble was expected to break out within the present year.

It was stated by one in a position to know that King Alfonso was fully cognizant of the position and had no doubt that sooner or later he would be forced to face a revolt. In this connection it may be pointed out that the messages from Madrid declare the present revolt is not directed against the throne, but is definitely an anti-cabinet movement.

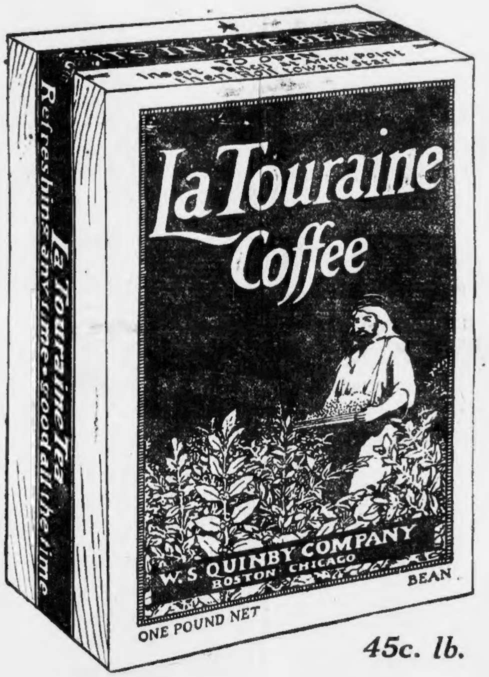
What you have the right to expect when you buy a pound of La Touraine Coffee



45c. lb.

EVERY TIME you buy a pound of La Touraine Coffee you have the right to expect coffee at its "best"—coffee that is of the very highest quality—coffee that is freshly roasted and freshly ground—coffee that is rich in true coffee flavor. In fact you have the right to expect all that you could possibly desire in coffee—all that the word "best" can be made to imply!

"You Might As Well Have The Best" means just what it says. For our obligation to you and the dealer who sells you La Touraine Coffee is a trust which has been safeguarded by the House of Quinby for more than a quarter of a century.

Your enjoyment of La Touraine Coffee means more to us than anything else for we know that upon it depends your continued patronage and good-will which we value so highly and without which this business could not endure.

If you are not now a user of La Touraine Coffee, buy a pound today. Your grocer takes pride in serving you with freshly roasted and freshly ground coffee. And, he will be glad to hear you ask for La Touraine for he knows how much real coffee goodness is contained in the familiar yellow, black and red La Touraine package, which you will find displayed on his shelves.

If possible, buy La Touraine in the bean and grind it about as fine as coarse granulated sugar, or, if you have not a coffee mill, ask your grocer to grind it fresh for you. For when it is so easily obtainable "You Might As Well Have the Best."

SIX JURORS CHOSEN TO TRY W. S. WARD AS SLAYER OF PETERS

DEFENDANT EYES THEM CLOSELY

Extraordinary Grand Jury to Question Members of Family on Conspiracy

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Six of the twelve men who probably will decide whether Walter S. Ward, son of the millionaire baker, shall go to the electric chair for the slaying of Clarence M. Peters, of Haverhill, Mass., former marine, were in the jury box when the first day of the trial came to a close.

These men, mostly of humble station, still are subject to peremptory challenge, but it seemed probable they would be accepted. Ward himself, immaculately clad, bejeweled, sleek and curious, passed with his counsel on the prospective jurors.

Here's how the list looked as Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Wagner, specially designated for the trial, adjourned court:

1—Charles E. Schilling, 58 years old, putative foreman, married, a father, wears glasses, speaks with foreign accent, cheerful personality; home at Pelham Heights.

2—Henry Benke, 40 years old, serious-minded machinist, of Pleasantville.

3—Charles F. Kueler, 55 years old, farmer, unmarried, of North Salem.

4—Michael J. Daugherty, middle-aged builder, publisher, and formerly active in Democratic politics, of Mamaroneck.

5—Lloyd Birdsal, 40 years old, warehouse owner.

6—Arthur Young, 65 years old, a builder, with sparse figure and iron gray hair.

With the first day of the trial bringing forth none of the legal pyrotechnics expected when the attorneys hired by the Ward millions got into action, interest turned to the extraordinary grand jury that indicted Ward. It was in session again and supposedly investigated five witnesses in connection with a possible charge against members of the Ward family for conspiracy to thwart justice.

WARD CHEERS UP AS TRIAL PROCEEDS

This is how the confessed slayer of Clarence E. Peters, Haverhill boy, looked at the end of the first day of his trial for first degree murder when six jurors had been chosen. Ward during the early proceedings was silent and gloomy but cheered up as the talesmen were examined and was smiling broadly as he left court on the way back to his cell.

REALTY AUCTIONEER INSURED FOR MILLION

New York, Sept. 13.—Should Joseph P. Day, real estate auctioneer, die before midnight on Saturday, Lloyds of London will be out $1,000,000. The life of the auctioneer was insured by Max Natanson, for whom Mr. Day has been selling lots in the old Sheepshead Bay race track for the last ten days.

Another section of the track, consisting of 700 lots and thirty-two bungalows, will be placed on the auction block on Saturday.

Mr. Natanson, who bought the old track several months ago from the Harkness estate, is of the opinion that life and health are in great danger at all times in this city.

He said he did not intend to sacrifice the financial success of the sale through the loss of the services of Mr. Day.

"BLACK JACK" IS 63; ONE YEAR TO GO

Washington, Sept. 13.—John J. Pershing celebrated today his sixty-third birthday. He began his last year of active service in the army, to which his life has been devoted, at his desk in the War Department, performing the triple duties of acting secretary of war, general of the armies and chief of staff.

A year from today, which also is the anniversary of the opening of the Battle of St. Mihiel, General Pershing will pass automatically to the retired list.

FORD SURPLUS UP $1000 MINUTE; HENRY BUYS MODEL VILLAGE

Detroit, Sept. 13.—The steady growth of the Ford Motor Company is again revealed for the twelve months ended June 30, 1923. Total assets are given as $597,339,236, as compared with $409,820,132 on June 30, 1922, an increase of $187,519,104.

In an effort to keep down the surplus, said to be increasing at the rate of $1,000 a minute, derived from his various industries, including the building of 7,000 automobiles every twenty-four hours, Mr. Ford has added to his collection the model village of Pequaming, Mich., with a population numbering about 600 and approximately 400,000 acres of timber land.

The monthly rent for any one of the 105 cottages in the village is $1. Electric lights and water are furnished at cost. The doctor's bill is never in excess of $1.50 a month.

HUB CHINAMAN, BANKER, HELD AS FORGER

Moy Guem, alias Philip T. Moy, head of the foreign credit department of the Citizen's National Bank and graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was arrested after an automobile chase by police inspectors and charged with forgery, uttering and larceny of $5,000.

Immediately previous to his arrest, Moy, the police say, had drawn $5,000 in cash, on a check bearing the forged signatures of members of the firm of Joy Yong Company of No. 21 Harrison avenue.

TRAILED IN AUTO.

Trailed by police inspectors unbeknown to himself, Moy left the bank and proceeded to his private garage, directed his chauffeur to start up his machine, and drove off. The inspectors commandeered an automobile and gave chase, overtaking Moy at Tyler street. He was then arrested and taken to police headquarters.

Moy, the police allege, made out a promissory note for thirty days, payable to Joy Yong Company, and bearing the signatures of N. G. Chung and Kon Leon Lu, who conduct a restaurant in Chinatown. The names, the police say, were forged.

DISCOUNTED NOTE.

Moy is then alleged to have discounted the note and drawn a check payable to cash, for $5,000. The check, too, the police say, was forged. How Moy disposed of the money could not be learned.

Moy is treasurer of the Asia Products Company and proprietor of another business at 22 Tyler street. He is a veteran of the World War.

Nevin's 'Rosary' Is Still the World's Best Seller

New York, Sept. 13.—Though scorned by critics and denounced as a mere pot boiler, which no first class singer would include in a repertoire, "The Rosary" is still the world's best selling song. The words have been translated into every known language, even Esperanto. More than 80,000 copies were sold in America alone last year, and that was a small part of the total. No other song ever written has earned as much money as "The Rosary." Ethelbert Nevin wrote the music on his death bed many years ago.

POLICE HOLD UP 300 MOTORISTS IN CAMBRIDGE

In three hours at Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, near Chauncey street, 300 autoists were cut out of the outbound line by Fred L. Murray of the Registry of Motor Vehicles and Captain Fred M. Ellis of the Cambridge police, assisted by patrolmen.

All were in some way violating the State automobile regulations. Of the 300, 100 failed to produce either a registration or license certificate. They were forced to drive their cars into one of the side streets off the avenue and journey to their homes for the necessary papers before they were allowed to continue on their way.

Two hundred of the 300 had headlights that did not comply with the regulations. They were given a ticket and a specified length of time in which to make necessary changes.

No arrests were made, but many a party which had started out pleasantly for the evening ended as the officers held up the hands of authority. All those stopped were headed north of Harvard square.

E. BOSTON MAN SEEKS 2 MISSING CHILDREN

Louis Polito of No. 1 Lowland place, East Boston, today appealed to the police to find his motherless children, Annie and Sammy, aged twelve and ten years, respectively. They have been missing since last Monday. When the father left home in the morning of that day he gave Annie $6 to buy provisions for the household. When he returned at night Annie and Sammy were both missing. The children ran away last Friday and were found the next day at the Salvation Army headquarters in the South End. Annie wore a brown jacket and a green dress when she left home, and Sammy a blue suit.

REPARATIONS PACT IS STILL FAR AWAY

By C. F. BERTELLI

Paris, Sept. 13.—A flat denial that France is negotiating with Germany on the Ruhr and reparations, or that Premier Poincare's policy has changed in the slightest degree, was given to Universal Service by an official of the French Government.

American readers should know that a reparations settlement is no nearer now than it was on January 11, when France occupied the Ruhr. Germans may cease their "passive resistance," which has become a sort of fetish to the parlor politicians, but that does not mean that the reparations problem is solved; for Germany is in far worse shape to pay now than prior to the occupation of the Ruhr.

Furthermore, men who are inside of the workings of the governments, are convinced that Prime Minister Baldwin's last word in the matter has not yet been said. It is pointed out that he cannot withdraw from the flat policy expressed in his latest note to France without resigning as Premier, and it is inconceivable that any British government would be content to play second fiddle to France.

Stresemann Admits Resistance Fails

Berlin, Sept. 13 (A.P.)—Germany is prepared to enlist private property in industry, commerce, finance and agriculture as a pledge for the payment of her reparation obligations if she is assured that the Ruhr and Rhineland will be restored, said Chancellor Stresemann in his address to the German editors.

Visits Bandit

MRS. ROSITA FORBES.

English woman explorer is first woman to visit Bandit Raisuli in his mountain stronghold.

RAISULI FOUND STILL DEFIANT OF EUROPE

London, Sept. 13.—Rosita Forbes, noted English explorer, the first white woman to have visited the notorious Moroccan bandit, Raisuli, has returned to this city, preparatory to publishing an account of her adventures.

The explorer visited the dreaded bandit for eleven days, in his mountain stronghold far from the white settlements in Morocco. The bandit chief's two wives, nine daughters, three sons and sixty slaves were ordered, in accordance with native custom, to serve the English woman during her visit.

Raisuli is still defiant of European and especially of Spanish troops in Morroco, according to Rosita Forbes. Raisuli believes civilization will eventually penetrate Morocco, but asserts it will be through the medium of physicians and hospitals and not through European armies.

The bandit chief, now fifty-two years old, according to the Englishwoman, claims a geneology that traces directly to the patriarch Moses. He appeared to be thoroughly versed in current European politics.

At Sauntaug Inn a farewell dinner was given to Harry L. Shaw by a member of his Boston friends. Mr. Shaw leaves for California on Friday to go into business. A handsomely fitted suitcase, suitably engraved, was presented to him. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Shaw, Dr. and Mrs. Preble, Dr. and Mrs. Hebburn, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Stone, Richard Topham, Mr. Robinson, C. H. Tobey.

CLUB WOMAN SCORES 'PAGAN' MARRIAGES

Providence, Sept. 13.—Marriage entered into thoughtlessly by young people and performed by a justice of the peace is "pagan." The marriage contract can never be merely legal.

So declared Mrs. Howard Ives, of Portland, Me., in an address at the opening session of the fourteenth annual conference of the New England Federation of Women's Clubs in Churchill hall here.

Mrs. Ives pleaded for the women of New England to oppose the passage of the national uniform divorce law, introduced by Senator Capper and already approved by the National Federation of Women's Clubs, until they had succeeded in "spiritualizing the marriage ceremony."

THEIR OWN FIELD.

When Mrs. Ives called upon New England women to cease emphazing the equality between themselves and men, and to find their field of work as wives, mothers, and home makers, she was vigorously approved.

When, in her capacity as chairman of the legislative committee of the Maine State Federation of Women's Clubs, she denounced the proposed divorce amendment, the 150 delegates and 200 guests were startled, and warm discussion began.

"Before the Federation favors legislation on divorce, I urge, as a great consecrated group of Christian women, that they make a declaration of what real marriage is, that the marriage contract can never be merely legal," said Mrs. Ives.

DIVORCE DEPLORABLE.

"No thinking woman can deny that the present divorce condition is deplorable and must be remedied," she continued. "When a woman who is married in one State can move to another State of our Union and be declared by law illegally married, with her children becoming illegitimate, it is time to do something.

"Let the Christian church join together only those who enter into the marriage ceremony at the communion," she advised. "When the Federation brings before the country a spiritual declaration of what marriage should be and what most marriages are not, then let the club women deal with the exigencies of the present deplorable divorce laws and decide how Godless legalized marriages may best be declared null and void!"

MARKET SWAMPED BY TINKER MACKEREL

With the freezers filled to overflowing and receipts running heavier than at any time this season, the local market has been unable to absorb all the tinker mackerel brought into port. Fish Pier prices, as a result, have dropped from fifteen and eighteen cents a pound a week ago, to six and seven cents, and even less for large lots.

The aggregate receipts for the week ending yesterday were considerably in excess of a million pounds, whereas for the previous week they were only 3,300.

39 PATHFINDERS SAD AND DRY; SHIP SEIZED

Los Angeles, Sept. 13.—Double misfortune has befallen the group of thirty-nine British gentlemen adventurers, who arrived at Los Angeles Harbor on a path-finding voyage in the interest of an airplane fight around the world planned by Captain Norman McMillan and G. H. Malines, of the Royal Air Force.

The first came when officers searched their vessel, the Frontiersman, announced they had found aboard sixty-five gallons of whiskey and promptly attached the liquor and the boat.

The second misfortune came when an officer served notice on Captain Spalding that the vessel was attached in behalf of a shipbuilding company for a claim of $250 said to be due for repairs.

The crew of the Frontiersman is composed entirely of members of the Adventurers' Club of London, who volunteered to serve without pay for the fun of the voyage. Several now working as deckhands, stokers, oilers and cooks have notable world war records, it is said. The crew contributed $15,000 toward the expenses of the trip, the remainder being made up by popular subscription in England.

MRS. CRANE SWAM TO SAFETY IN QUAKE

Osaka, Japan, Sept. 13.—Accounts of escapes of Americans and acts of self-sacrifice on their part are coming to light. Mrs. Crane, wife of Major William C. Crane, Jr., the American language officer, was at his office on the Yokohama Bund.

She jumped into the bay when the fire broke out and remained there with others several hours, ultimately swimming a quarter of a mile through the raging waters to a ship in the harbor. Mrs. Crane was Miss Whitin of Whitinsville, Mass.

SNOW FALLS IN NORTHWEST; FROST KILLS

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Snow and killing frosts today set the North and West donning overcoats, while portions of the Central States shivered as the area of the lowered temperatures spread.

Frosts were general throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas last night, but the extent of damage to crops, if any, was not determined. Government meteorologists, who said a recurrence of warm temperature was unlikely, forecast hard frosts that might cause injury to gardens and crops.

Michigan and Minnesota saw the first snow of the season yesterday. In Duluth there were a few flurries. At Calumet, Mich., cold winds off Lake Superior brought snow that fell for a half-hour and at Marquette reports were received of a snowfall at Ishpeming.

Chicago thermometers were close to the half-century mark early today.

EMPTY OLD CANNON; DAMAGE TWO HOUSES

Waterloo, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Firing of a Civil War cannon in Lafayette Park to free the piece of three eight-pound balls that had been lodged in the gun by mischievous boys, damaged two Waterloo residences and the Waterloo Hotel. Citizens escaped injury only because the cannon was aimed above the street level.

Pouring two ounces of powder through the fuse-hole, and using a firecracker fuse, Charles Genung touched off the piece. Evidently some powder remained in the gun from previous firing.

One plowed into the west side of the Genung home, another travelled nearly 500 feet and crashed through the Waterloo Hotel. The third fell in the yard of another house.

LIVED WITH WIFE OF CHILD'S FATHER

MISS NANCY JORDAN AND SON

International Newsreel Photo.

English girl and her "love child" came to Kansas City on the invitation of Mrs. Frank Warren, since divorced from her husband, who is the father of the child. Miss Jordan says Mrs. Warren only kept her promise for a week. The girl-mother is to go home.

GIRL AND HER WAR BABY ARE 'GOING HOME'

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 13.—The "ennobling altruism," which Miss Nancy Jordan says brought her and her young son to Kansas City from England nearly a year ago to make her home with Mrs. Mary Van Trump Warren, has failed.

Miss Jordan announced that she will sail back to her home in several days. Mrs. Warren, the divorced wife of Frank Warren, a local lawyer, who became acquainted with Miss Jordan while serving in the United States army overseas, invited the young girl to come to America and live with her.

When Miss Jordan arrived in New York she was met by Mrs. Warren. Promises of Mrs. Warren that she could live with her here as her "guest" were not kept, Miss Jordan said today, and within a week she was cast upon her own resources. She obtained a position and has been supporting herself and son.

Mrs. Warren obtained a divorce from Frank Warren soon after he was released from the army. It was known at the time that he had been corresponding with Miss Jordan and that he was the father of her "war baby," but her name was not mentioned in the divorce proceedings.

She declared that she is returning to England to find a home for her son.

BREAKS HER SILENCE.

Forsaking her earlier determination to maintain secrecy as to her son's father, Miss Jordan today named Warren as her sweetheart in England while she was employed in a large business house and he was on duty in England as an officer in the United States army.

In reply to a question, Miss Jordan said:

"Mr. Warren is the father of my boy. I have letters at home in England in which Mr. Warren assured me we would be married in this country. If for no other reason, the marriage was to give my child his name. All these plans have fallen through."

WAS PUPPET IN HOME.

Miss Jordan intimated she has been used merely as a puppet in the marital discord of the Warren home.

"Mr. Warren has utterly ignored my boy. He has paid for the child's care, but lately these payments have been infrequent. He has urged me to have Francis adopted by some well-to-do family, but I have refused. I am determined to keep the boy.

"I realize that my boy will soon be inquiring about his father. I can't stand to have him here where people know and some day have him learn the truth."

GREEK SALUTE TO ITALY SET FOR SEPT. 20

Athens, Sept. 13. (A.P.)—It is understood here that the salute to the Allies, required of Greece in the Janina murder terms laid down by the Council of Ambassadors will take place on September 20. The country remains tranquil and is awaiting the fulfillment of the formalities demanded by the council.

The government has not yet received official notice of Italy's reported intention of demanding reimbursement for the cost of the Corfu occupation. The official attitude here is that nothing can provoke Greece into war.

ROXBURY GIRL, CROSSING STREET, KILLED BY AUTO

Katherine Page, 7 years old, of No. 2 Farnham Place, Roxbury, died at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital from injuries suffered when she was run down by an automobile while crossing Ruggles street, Roxbury. Robert S. Burns, of No. 360 Riverway, Back Bay, driver of the machine, took the girl to the hospital.

The auto is the property of the Drive-Yourself-Auto Company, No. 171 Huntington avenue, Back Bay.

PLASTERERS PICK JOBS AT PITTANCE OF $105 WEEKLY

New York, Sept. 13.—"Snowballing" of building wages, less popular among bricklayers, who are becoming more plentiful than jobs, is being practiced by the finishing trades such as plasterers, plumbers, tile settlers, marble workers and steamfitters, according to building contractors.

Plasterers pick jobs on work that brings in about $105 a week, including Sunday work at double time and five and a half week days at $14 per diem. The men in the five other trades mentioned get at least one hour overtime each day, making a standard $10 wage look like $12.50 and more on the owner's cost sheet.

The scarcity of mechanics, it is predicted, will continue well into 1924.

LEAGUE DRAFTS 'MUTUAL AID' TREATY

Geneva, Sept. 13 (A.P.)—A subcommission of the League of Nations is framing a treaty of "Mutual Assistance," the first article of which constitutes a solemn declaration that aggressive war is an international crime. The contracting nations would argue that no one of them will be guilty of committing it.

*he preamble declares the treaty is based upon a desire to facilitate the application of Article 10 of the League covenant, concerning the maintenance of the territorial integrity of the nations, and to secure the reduction or limitation or armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety.

GREEN FLY SWARM INVADES THE CITY

A swarm of "May flies of the genus Ephemera" invaded the downtown section of the city. The experts on insects at the State House could not say where they came from.

The flies were small, almost transparent, and gave the impression that they were green in color.

No damage is expected to result from the swarm of flies and there is no place for them to breed in the city, the insect experts said.

Petting Party on Newport Yacht Led to Exposure of Bellhop Imposter

Otto Hartman Discovered With Society Belle and Falls Into Hands of the Police

[illegible] how a full dress suit and [illegible] homes of the most wealthy [illegible] in Newport [illegible] ng the jealousy of her [illegible]

By OTTO NELSON HARTMAN

When we went to the ballroom of Mrs. Arthur Curtis James palatial yacht, the Aloha, I had no partner. I had no place card, and actually had no right there, of course, but they thought I did.

Several times I danced with Miss [illegible] a debutante whom I had met many times before, both in Newport and in New York at various social functions. Our friendship had been immediate and she was a charming girl.

Miss [illegible] Ellsworth [illegible] debutante whom I had met many times before both in Newport and in New York at various social functions. Our friendship had been immediate, and she was a charming girl.

Miss —— had been escorted to the club where she was the companion of one of the international tennis stars. He was at Harvard then.

Shaw Safe was not a [illegible] star so he could not [illegible] his girl at the gangplank.

Visits to Punchbowl

When the dancing died down a little it was followed by petting parties on the upper decks. Each tennis star and his girl for the evening sat around on steamer chairs, on lifeboats and pressures, and along the taffrail.

There were frequent trips to the punchbowl downstairs, and anybody could see that the bowl must have contained more kicks than a Fifty Mule Borax team. It was champagne, prewar, and [illegible] everything.

Miss —— seemed to lose her dance partner. Anyway we remained together on the upper deck.

Each time we returned from the punchbowl we got a little more sentimental. Everybody else was busy, too, with petting parties.

Mrs. Arthur Curtis James, hostess, apparently knew—and cared—nothing about what went on. She was in her private salon, playing bridge with her husband, Captain Herbert of the Royal English Guards, and Lady Herbert.

That's where I made a tactical error. It was my first social break and my last. Toward dawn, Miss —— and myself were reclining on the canvas covering over a lifeboat whispering a lot of nothings to each other.

"At the Hill Top Inn," I replied. That is one of the most exclusive hotels in Newport. So he said:

Kenneth Shaw-Safe jumped into his car and raced around the town. I was slightly upset by my many trips to the punchbowl, and I wandered along various streets viewing the world with purple draperies and [illegible] colors.

Look for the Eagle before you shop

IT IS THE GREATEST SIGN OF UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY IN EXISTENCE TODAY—and wise indeed is he who throughly and constantly investigates what the Government has to offer for sale from its War Surplus Materials and what he can buy it for BEFORE making his purchases.

No matter in what direction your needs may lie the probabilities are that the wanted materials or merchandise or something which will answer the purpose as well or better may be found in these War Surplus Materials.

And then comes your opportunity to buy at price considerations which are well worth while—with this too comes your big chance to make for yourself and the people in your community an economy of extraordinary merit.

Don't be short sighted. Learn what your Government has to sell and when it is to be sold. Investigate (it's easy) the actual offerings. Buy them at your price. Take the action which not only assures a fair and reasonable profit for you and economy for your customers, but which also aids your Government in disposing of its War Surplus Materials.

The Way to Investigate

Watch your Commercial Business Publication and the Metropolitan Dailies for announcements of specific auction or sealed bid sales.

Send for the Catalog mentioned in the announcement. Check off the items that interest you.

Send a representative to the sale to inspect the materials—in advance, if possible.

To ensure you more leeway, send your name and address at once to Major J. L. Frink, Chief, Sales Promotion Section, Room 2515 Munitions Building, Washington, D. C. Advise him the character of materials you are interested in, and if such items are available in future sales your name will be placed upon the War Department mailing list and catalogs of such sales forwarded you as rapidly as sales are scheduled.

Final commodity sales are now being scheduled. Stocks of Quartermaster Supplies are to be offered at auction at Brooklyn, Sept. 27; Chicago, Oct. 18; San Antonio, Oct. 24; San Francisco, Oct. 30. Additional sales will be announced as scheduled.

Important sales of Real Estate, Buildings, Plants and Warehouses will be held at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass.; Ordnance Reserve Depot, Amatol, N. J.; Ordnance Reserve Depot, Toledo, Ohio; Camp Knox, Louisville, Ky.; and Camp Lewis, American Lake, Wash. Definite dates will be announced later.

SIGNALS SET AGAINST TRAIN IN WRECK

Officials of the State and Federal Governments and of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad pursued an exhaustive investigation of the circumstances surrounding Tuesday's wreck at Readville.

The inquiry was held in the office of Supt. W. T. Spencer of the Boston division. With Mr. Spencer sat other operating officials of the road, a representative of the safety division of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who arrived from Washington, and two representatives of the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities.

It is expected to be several days before a conclusion is reached.

TESTIMONY TAKEN.

The board heard stories of members of the train crew, the train dispatcher, the tower men at the scene of the accident and all [illegible] who were present at the accident.

The records of Stephen T. Gotham, the dead engineer, and of Andrew Anderson, the fireman who was killed, were read, showing both had an almost perfect record for efficiency.

It was brought out at the investigation that as the train approached [illegible] on track 2, the express [illegible] semaphore signal was set against the engineer. The signal [illegible] to testimony, could have been seen for a mile. However, a dwarf signal, beside the track, was set in Gotham's favor, meaning he was to proceed and cross over from track 2, the express track, to track 4, the [illegible] track to Boston.

ENGINEER CRITICIZED.

According to the rule book, Engineer Gotham should have slowed down and brought his train to a stop and then proceeded carefully as instructed by the dwarf signal. The [illegible] required slow movement [illegible]

The speed of the train came in for [illegible] discussion. It was the general opinion that the speed was [illegible] at all dangerous for the express track. Complete examination of the roadbed, locomotive and cars is being made to determine if defective equipment had anything to do with the wreck.

Sharpe is the lessee of the Rumford and Wading River Commission, owners of the pond. Attorney James C. Moran, counsel for the abutters, has raised the issue that the public cannot now be barred from the pond.

Moran cites the well-known law that uninterrupted use of a path by the public for twenty years gains a permanent right to such use and bars the owner from closing the land at any time after the twenty-year period. A case in the early annals of Massachusetts legal disputes [illegible]

WIDOW, 30, TELLS WHY SHE JILTED DOCTOR OF 70

MRS. KAY FOUND HIM ARDENT FOR HIS AGE

Aged Swain, However, Could Not Inspire Her to Love in Return

By HAROLD R. HALL

Somewhere in Massachusetts there is a lonely, old, retired physician of seventy years, who has been dealt a cruel blow by Dan Cupid.

The physician is Dr. Henry Hyland Burgess of Los Angeles, Cal. For some time the doctor had believed that he was soon to play the principal male role in a charming wedding with a pretty widow of thirty years.

Today the doctor realizes that there will be no wedding bells for him, since the widow, Mrs. Gertrude E. Kay, of No. 40 Newton street, Brighton, has informed him that he might as well go back to Los Angeles at once, for she refuses to be an "old man's darling."

REALIZES HIS AGE

Mrs. Kay was engaged to a young man named Floyd Smith of Medford before she met the old doctor. She had even gone so far as to secure a marriage license to wed Smith. Then she jilted Smith for the doctor.

Boston City Hall license officials, however, held up the license because the first license had not been returned. Then the parents of Mrs. Kay objected because they were "not sure whether he was a real doctor or not."

"I realize now that when I am only forty years old the doctor will be eighty," Mrs. Kay said. "A woman cannot be happy with a man so much older than herself.

OFFERED $25,000

"Anyway, I could never really love a man. I loved my husband who died. He will be the only love I ever have.

"I never loved Doctor Burgess. I liked him—I liked him a lot. But love him—never! My love is dead.

"Doctor Burgess offered to settle $25,000 on me before the wedding if I would marry him. And if I had married him it would have been for money. I respect the old doctor too much to play such a dirty trick on him.

"If I had married him it would only have been a matter of a short time until the whole thing would probably have ended in the divorce courts, for a woman of my age cannot be tied up to a man forty years older than she. That is not natural.

SHIRTS STUNNING

"The doctor is somewhere in Massachusetts now, I do not know where. I hope he has started back to California. He is a good old scout and all that, and I wish him well. Really you would not think he was as old as he is, and for his age he was a remarkable lover.

"Doctor Burgess dresses like a young man. You ought to see the perfectly wonderful shirts he wears. I never saw anything like them in my life. And his ties, too. Well, you should see them. But despite his ties and his money I shall never marry him. He is too old.

"As a matter of fact, I do not think I shall ever marry again. I have been offered a job in the moving pictures at a good salary. I am thinking the proposition over and may take it. I have also been offered several wonderful positions as a model. I have not turned any of these offers down as yet. I shall take my choice.

"As far as marrying is concerned, I am besieged with all kinds of offers. It seems that all the old beaux I ever had have turned up lately to offer me their hand. No, I shall not think of marrying Mr. Smith, either. There will be no wedding bells for me. I shall be neither an old man's darling nor a young man's slave."

New York, Sept. 13.—Through the denial of Mrs. Guinevere Sinclair Gould, the most thrilling matrimonial rumor of that romantic and much headlined family has become public — the engagement of George J. Gould, Jr., to the young and lovely widow of his father.

For several weeks past society, in its innermost circles, has come to look upon this new romance with such certainty as to dull its flavor of surprise.

TENTATIVE DATE SET.

Even a tentative date for the wedding—December—has been fixed by the gossips and the family had been divided, some for and some against this latest sensational Gould marriage.

It is acknowledged that Mrs. Gould, beautiful and gifted with great charm, as the wife of the father, won the fast friendship of at least two of the children, Edith (Mrs. Carroll Wainwright) and George, Jr.

And upon that obvious friendship, in the opinion of many, the gossips built their conclusion of a closer attachment. Mrs. Gould herself, distressed over the persistent rumors, said at the Manursing Island home, where she lives with her three children:

"George is my friend. We are great friends. But this is so untrue and so unkind."

George J. and Edith were with the young wife at Cap St. Martin last May when George J. Gould, custodian of one of America's greatest fortunes, died. Her tenderness and devotion in these last days, her courage and character, lastingly bound the affection and admiration of these older Gould children.

SON HER ESCORT.

The illness of two of Mrs. Gould's children delayed her departure for America with her husband's body until late in June and George Gould, Jr., accompanied her on that difficult trip, and with other members of the family, was present at the simple funeral services, June 26, when the financier was buried in the family mausoleum.

Mrs. Wainwright, who with her husband, had returned to America a few weeks earlier, became the close companion of her father's young widow, and both she and George, Jr., were often at Manursing Island. For more than five years, Mrs. Gould had secluded herself in that beautiful spot overlooking the blue waters of Long Island Sound, near Rye, devoting herself entirely to her children. And [illegible] became [illegible] after her husband's death.

WED FOR LOVE.

It has been the history of the Gould family to wed for love, regardless of conventional dictates. Thirty-seven years ago, George J. Gould as America's most eligible bachelor, set the example by his courtship and marriage of Edith Kingdon, the dark-eyed ingenue of the Daly Theatre.

And little more than a year ago, six months after the death of his first wife, George J. Gould, as the middle-aged father of seven children, led the golden haired, ethereally beautiful Guinevere Sinclair to an [illegible] Jersey parish, made her his bride, took her across the sea to a castle in Scotland, and from there into the Valley of the Kings near Luxor, and finally to a villa on the Mediterranean.

The young widow, in her only newspaper interview, later said, she had met George Gould nine years before their marriage at a London tea party which he attended with Anthony Drexel. She was the granddaughter of Sir Edward Burrows Sinclair, president of Trinity College, Dublin, had been presented casually to the two American world travelers.

MAKE ATHLETES OF 'SKELETONS' T. B. REPORT

Worcester, Sept. 13.—The exit of the scalpel and the entry of the sun and air for curing bone and tubercular forms of tuberculosis were the topics described at the session of the New England Tuberculosis Conference. How a genuine revolution has been effected in the treatment of the so-called non pulmonary forms of the disease was described by doctors Horace Le Grasse, superintendent of the sanatorium at Perrysburg, N. Y., Harry Low of Boston and John F. O'Brien of Nantic, Conn. Reclamation of living skeletons until they became active athletes, some of them serving in France in the world war, were told and pictures of the patients [illegible]. Tomorrow Gov. Cox and other State officials will join in celebrating the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Rutland State Sanatorium.

Greeks Own Third of Restaurants in Boston

The annual report of the Licensing Board shows that more than a third of all the restaurants are owned by Greeks. Last year licenses were granted to 1,769 restaurants and of that number 497 were issued to Greeks. A clerk at the Licensing Board estimated that over half of all the Greeks in Boston work in restaurants or ice cream parlors. Porto Ricans, Swiss and Ukrainians are the only nations that have but one restaurant. The Irish, the dominant race of the city, have less than 12 per cent. of the total. They are credited with owning 126 places.

BOY SAYS HE SENT "DEATH LETTERS"

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 13.—Dixon Anderson, fourteen-year-old high school boy, was arrested here, following the receipt of threatening letters by several prominent local men. One of the letters was signed: "From New York's underworld, and I take no foolishness." At the Detention Home the boy admitted that he wrote the letters, but declared that he did it as a joke.

A letter received by J. E. Longmoor, vice-president of the Drovers' National Bank, threatened him and his family with death, if he failed to leave $5,000 at a designated place. The boy was captured through a decoy package.

BROCKTON UNIONS UNDER COMMISSION

Brockton, Sept. 13.—It was learned that sweeping changes in the conduct of affairs in the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union were made at a meeting of the general executive board here Tuesday. Virtually all of the unions taking active part in the recent twelve week strike have been placed under commission control.

ZR-1 TO FLY TO POLE IN SPRING

Predicted by Admiral Moffatt, Who Praises Performance of the Giant Airship

Washington, Sept. 13.—A flight by the big navy rigid ZR 1 to the North Pole, predicted as possible several months ago, is becoming a live possibility. Rear Admiral William A. Moffatt, Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, hopes to be able to make [illegible] a flight by next Spring.

The performance of the ZR 1 so [illegible] has been so satisfactory that it [illegible] probable official sanction will be forthcoming after the huge airship has proved herself on longer flights.

Admiral Moffat in a formal statement issued tonight, refers specifically to a North Pole flight if it later be deemed practicable. Secretary Denby is so impressed with the performance of the ZR 1 that it is believed he would consent unless the big rigid should develop serious faults in further trials.

Admiral Moffatt said in his statement.

"The success of the ship to date is a triumph of American industry, not only for her designers, but for the manufacturers of her fabric, engines and duralumin, for the workmen, naval aircraft factory and the naval air station, Lakehurst, N. J."

Secretary Denby said:

"The success of the ZR-1 is an American success which reflects the determination of naval officials to develop the rigid airship as an American product."

IRENE CASTLE IN TIRADE AT PRESS

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Denouncing newspapermen who had trailed her to the New York state fair horse show ring in a voice that carried to the grand stand, Irene Castle Treman, erstwhile Mrs. Robert E. Treman, wife of an Ithaca millionaire enacted a dramatic scene that wasn't on the fair program.

Irene Castle

"People have a right to privacy," Miss Castle shouted. "I will not be pestered by newspapermen any longer. I'm through being interviewed."

Miss Castle, who secured a divorce from Robert E. Treman in Paris, but who has more recently been reported as indulging in a second trial honeymoon in the Adirondacks arrived here on the heels of Treman's departure from the city.

Man Prefers Jail Term to Wife and Home

Brockton, Sept. 13.—Rather than go home to his wife John J. Boshell of Emmett street accepted with a smile a sentence of one month in the House of Correction.

When Boshell appeared in court on a non-support charge, he told Judge King he would rather go to jail than home. The case was continued to give the probation officer an opportunity to investigate.

When sentence was imposed Boshell said: "I thank you, judge."

BROCKTON COPS ACCUSE RUNNER OF 10 BREAKS

Brockton, Sept. 13.—His ability to run 100 yards in 10 1-5 seconds saved Richard W. Bruce of Fort Fairfield, Me., from arrest twice, but the third time he met a policeman he submitted to a levelled revolver. He was charged with a series of robberies. The police said today he admitted ten breaks.

For two months the Brockton police have been endeavoring to stem an unprecedented epidemic of robberies of residences. Citizens spending the vacation season away from the city returned to find their homes looted. Martin McCloskey, chauffeur for Perley G. Flint, shoe manufacturer, returned to the Flint residence and found a stranger there. The visitor, who had been sleeping in the house, disappeared with remarkable speed. McCloskey described him to the police.

The entire detective force spent the day looking for the man described. Once in a poolroom a detective approached Bruce, but the young man took to his heels and was soon out of sight. Later the same officer met Bruce on the street and arrested him at gun point.

Bruce, according to the police, admitted that he had been responsible for many house robberies, and that he had used false keys to enter hotel rooms for money and jewelry. He said he had been a high school athlete in Maine, specializing in the 100-yard dash, and that he came here about two months ago from Attleboro.

HYLAN TO SPEAK HERE ON COLUMBUS DAY

Official observance of Columbus Day on October 12 will be along international lines, according to arrangements completed by the Columbus Day committee of the Public Celebration Association of Boston and the City Director of Public Celebrations. National representatives in native costume will review the parade of Spanish War Veterans at City Hall. A municipal celebration will be held on the Common. Mayor Hylan of New York will be speaker. Mayor James M. Curley will preside.

"PEEPING TOM" IS CAUGHT

Fitchburg Youth Trapped After Months of Complaints From Residents

Fitchburg, Sept. 13.—Harold Shea, seventeen years old, of No. 39 Myrtle street, has been arrested by the Fitchburg police as the mysterious Peeping Tom who terrorized residents of the Crescent apartments by his nocturnal prowling and "peeping."

Shea was captured after a scuffle ensuing when he was trapped by two young men, Herbert Donovan and William Stanton, both of the Crescent Apartments on Crescent street.

For some months, dwellers of the apartment house have complained to the police of a stranger who rapped on doors and peeped through windows on sundry occasions. Police were dispatched to the house but the alleged Peeping Tom had made his getaway.

[illegible] for the "Peeper." Twelve young men concealed themselves about the building and awaited his coming. A few hours later young Shea came prowling about the building and stumbled over the two young men hidden in the bushes. He resisted but was soon subdued.

Shea is the son of Michael Shea, a local fireman.

TRUCK PLUNGES 75 FEET; BABY UNHURT

Marlboro, Sept. 13.—Pedestrians on McEnelly street had a hair raising thrill when a truck [illegible] by a two and one half year old tot left the road at Washington street and plunged forty feet down a 75 foot embankment, finally becoming entangled in the shrubbery. The youthful chauffeur, Jimmie Contlagamis, scrambled uninjured from the driver's seat. The car was parked at Washington and McEnelly streets with brakes set, when little Jimmie climbed to the seat and released the brakes.

LAWRENCE MAN CUTS THROAT WITH RAZOR

Lawrence, Sept. 13.—Jeremiah Linehan, sixty-two years old, of No. 248 Methuen street, attempted to commit suicide on the Lawrence Common by slashing his throat with a razor. He is on the danger list at the hospital. Linehan has been employed as a laborer on the Lawrence High School, now under construction. He is said to have a wife and children residing in Manchester. Ill health is believed to have been the motive.

MARINE DISASTERS LAID TO NEW CURRENTS FROM QUAKES

SCIENTISTS FEAR MORE WRECKS

Recharting of Pacific Coastal Waters Is Being Considered

Los Angeles, Sept. 13.—Strange, new uncharted currents, unofficially held as being the result of the Japanese earthquakes, with [illegible] accompanying tidal waves, are blamed for the recent [illegible] marine disasters off Point Arguello in Southern California.

MRS. JUNIUS A. RICHARDS

Mrs. Richards [illegible] marriage to Mr. Richards [illegible] formerly of Boston [illegible] the young couple are making [illegible] Long Island. (Photo by Bachrach.)

By BETTY ALDEN

A VERY interesting household is that of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Warren of "Barberry Hill," Pride's Crossing. More than interesting enough to be added to our "Who's News Along the North Shore."

In the first place, there's the master of the house. He's not only devoted to the gentle art of gentleman farming but raises Sealyham terriers and owns some of the fastest little whippets in the country.

As for Mrs. Warren, the former Elizabeth Sears, known as "Lily" to her intimates, is one of the most attractive and accomplished matrons of Boston's "far-famed four hundred." When the older daughter of Herbert M. Sears made her bow to society quite a number of years ago, she was the centre of no end of attention. Not because she was "Lily" Sears, but because she was attractive in manner as well as in looks.

Besides, she had a very lovely voice. So that whenever the Vincent Club girls gave their annual show the then "Lily" Sears was always a "sure-fire" drawing card. Two years ago, I remember, she sang a lovely solo in "Now and Then," which the highly appreciative audience made her repeat a number of times. Many are the matrons running this or that charity entertainment who call upon her to "draw the crowds." Mrs. Warren, who is tall and blonde and has clear gray-blue eyes, is noted for the smartness of her attire.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren have four youngsters—Bayard, Jr., who's nine years old; Lily, who's two years younger; Camille, four years old, and a tiny daughter born early this Summer. Every one of them—except maybe the baby, of course—agrees that Barberry Hill is a wonderful place. For its master and mistress have pretty nearly transformed their estate into a Noah's Ark. Every imaginable sort of animal may be found there—soft-eyed bossies, whose every "moo" is replete with aristocratic cadences, shiny-coated thoroughbreds that never fail to win their quota of blue ribbons, flapping geese, to say nothing of the pink-nosed creatures responsible for the fortune of a gentleman named Swift. Then, of course, there are the Sealyhams and the whippets.

MRS. L. LEWIS BREMER has concluded a stay at Beverly Farms as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barbour and has returned to her Summer home in Cohasset.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT LIVINGSTON have returned to New York, following their visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Prescott Rowe, at Magnolia, at the [illegible] Weaver home in Brookline.

Year's Best Selling Novel Reveals Mysterious Return of Youth and Beauty to Old Woman

By Arrangement with Associated First National Pictures, Inc., in Whose Film Version Corrine Griffith Will Appear as Countess Zattiany

START THIS BEST-SELLER HERE TODAY

A young and beautiful woman creates a sensation at a first night in New York by rising in her seat at the theatre and coolly surveying the audience through her glasses, after the European fashion. Lee Clavering, a brilliant newspaper writer, is immediately interested, and learns she is the image of a former society belle, Mary Ogden, though much younger than she should be at that time. He makes her acquaintance and finds she is Countess Josef Zattiany. He nearly guesses her secret. He asks her to marry him. He takes her to a gay studio party, after which she invites him home to hear her story of renewed youth. He is stunned by the revelation. Meanwhile Janet Oglethorpe, flapper daughter of one of Clavering's intimate friends, confesses her love for him. Then Madam Zattiany agrees to marry him and they plan their honeymoon.

READ ON. THE THRILLS COME FAST

MARY had always liked the light freshness of chintz in her bedroom, leaving luxury to her boudoir; her stay was to be short, and her bedroom was as large as two ordinary rooms. She spent many hours in it, when its violet and white simplicities appealed to her mood. Today it was redolent of the lilacs Clavering had sent her, and through the open windows came the singing of birds in the few trees still left in the old street.

brought vigor by morning

How To Keep A Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day. Mrs. J. Russell of 19,141 Havana Ave., Detroit, Mich., keeps her family of two young children in perfect health with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. R. L. Smith of 519 Maple Ave., East Pittsburg, Pa., says her family of three children have never been sick a day since giving them Syrup Pepsin.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or coal-tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

You Can Have A Trial Bottle

"Syrup Pepsin," 517 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy Aspirin

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for colds, headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, lumbago, rheumatism, neuritis, and for pain in general. Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade-mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

THE BOY THAT FAILED

FATHER had planned a brilliant future for him. Mother's high hopes for his success were supported ably by her everlasting faith in him.

But the boy was a bitter disappointment. He was being outdistanced steadily by his schoolmates, was dull, listless all the time, "felt sick" most of the time, never had "pep" for play nor ambition for his future.

Father had about given him up. Poor mother's heartstrings were nearing the breaking point. Evidently, it was not to be.

Then an old friend of the family—a man successful in every sense—came to the boy's rescue. Today, the father is proud of the boy who is indeed a joy to his mother.

It was simply a case of poor digestion, sluggish liver and constipation gradually dulling the senses and poisoning the system.

Knowing from experience that Beecham's Pills were harmless as well as efficient, the old friend suggested them. They made the boy well—as they have hosts of other children, and grown-ups, too, who suffered from like disorders.

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better. The weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

A recent canvass reports 98 out of every 100 women are benefited by Investors and others have sometimes questioned what would happen to Bethlehem Steel after Charles M. Schwab gave up the helm. They need not worry. The first thing Schwab did when he took hold of Bethlehem Steel was to analyze the human material connected with the company and to select a dozen of the most promising young men. Practically every one made good. One of them, Eugene G. Grace, has developed into what Schwab insists upon calling "the greatest steel man America has ever produced." For years Schwab has been training Grace to succeed him, and the truth is that for quite a long time Grace has been the active directing figure in the corporation. Schwab gives Grace credit for most of the big progressive thing Bethlehem has done in the last half dozen or half score years.

The word used to regard the National Cash Register Company and John H. Patterson as one and the same thing. Yet what has happened since Mr. Patterson died? The company has been doing more business and doing it more successfully than ever before—this too, in spite of the fact that general business has gone through a period of acute depression. Mr. Patterson had a faculty for training and developing young men into heavyweight executives, with the result that when he was called away there were three or four very brainy youngish men, including his own son, fitted to carry on.

Harriman put very able men at the head of each of his railroads and other properties. But he was so essentially a one-man organization, he handled so many matters personally that there was no one trained to fill his shoes. He was a picker of men rather than a developer of men. And he played such a lone hand in the higher reaches of his operations that he had no successor.

Theodore N. Vail had a capacity for both selecting and developing able co-workers. He told me some time before he died that Harry B. Thayer was about the brainiest broadest executive he had ever known. The result was that Mr. Vail's passing did not cripple the progress of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company. Incidentally, one of the company's young vice-presidents, Walter S. Gifford, is regarded by many as one of the most brilliant of the younger race of business executives.

Modern executives, as a rule, follow more enlightened policies than the old school of executives followed in this matter of building permanent organizations and training proper executives.

Stephen Girard, of Philadelphia, ran a one-man organization and it virtually died with him. So with A. T. Stewart, the foremost merchant in New York of his day. William Rockefeller left no organization to be carried on by his sons. Woolworth ran a one-man enterprise for years, but he told me that a complete breakdown of his health led him to change his whole tactics, with a consequence that he left an organization capable of raising the [illegible] to higher heights than before under President Parson. Russell Sage entrusted nothing to anybody else and his business died with him. It is often remarked [illegible] woolen trade that William M. Wood, founder of the American Woolen Company [illegible] solitaire player [illegible] good deal [illegible] what will happen when he [illegible]

In every city of any size there are two different types of business heads. Men whose firm or company will in all likelihood disintegrate when they die and the man who has welded together an organization calculated to carry on successfully.

Some men otherwise tremendously clear headed are extremely shortsighted when it comes to sharing responsibilities with associates. They insist upon being Czars. They do not encourage associates to work with them; they demand that others work for them—a charge, by the way, that has been thrown against Henry Ford, although so far Ford's methods certainly have not lacked financial success.

LEWISOHN SAYS USERS ARE TOO CAUTIOUS

By W. S. COUSINS.

[illegible] enormous amount of copper and American producers of the red metal [illegible] sufficient to cover the requirements [illegible]

Sam A. Lewisohn, treasurer and general manager of the Miami Copper Co., said today that one of [illegible] sumption of copper in this country in the last six months was the hand [illegible] fab [illegible] the wire [illegible] companies.

These users of copper metal have apparently been governed by the conditions existing in their trades, as exhibited in the falling off in the demand for manufactured products and in the uncertainty regarding the volume of future orders.

"I feel that American business [illegible] lines," said Mr. Lewisohn, "a commendable virtue when not carried to excess. Now that confidence has [illegible] program of expansion there will undoubtedly be a better market for such basic commodities as copper and steel, and the present prospects are as bright as they were at any time in the last two years."

Expansion of electrical industries [illegible] miles of copper wire and [illegible] telegraph and telephone [illegible] have not [illegible] up with the deficits occasioned by the war.

The building boom, Mr. Lewisohn asserted, has not slackened to an appreciable extent, despite the curtailments in the big cities which were [illegible] earlier in the year. Business building has been curtailed to some extent, but it is not so easy to regulate the building of homes when the needs for housing [illegible] modate an expanding [illegible] he declared.

Mr. Lewisohn also stated that despite the [illegible] Europe [illegible] have caused such a decline in many departments of America's foreign business, the buying of copper by European countries has fallen off very little.

BOSTON ELEVATED.

To P. S. F., Paisley Park.—Boston Elevated common at 80, yielding 7½ per cent [illegible] of Massachusetts income tax, continues to be a local market riddle. Under private management years ago when the company [illegible] earning so strong a position [illegible] as it is today, the stock sold as high as 159. There seems to be a lingering fear that the Elevated property at the expiration of the minimum ten-year period of public ownership will go back to private operation. One who has made an exhaustive study of the [illegible] public control [illegible] regarding this and other [illegible]

Section 1 [illegible] provides that [illegible] continue after the ten-year period unless the Commonwealth shall elect to discontinue same and in that case even two years' notice must be given.

Instead of the legislature having the privilege of extending the period beyond ten years, they must take definite legislative action to cancel [illegible] anyone imagine a legislature [illegible] a governor with courage enough to [illegible] for discontinuance of public management after ten years experience and after having spent millions of dollars on the property of the stockholders to put it back in [illegible] I cannot imagine that a legislature would [illegible]

[illegible] property [illegible] at the expiration of ten or more years to the stockholder, which I believe will never occur, the company thereafter shall [illegible] to public regulation and supervision only in such manner as will not reduce the income below the reasonable cost of the service [illegible] fixed charges, depreciation [illegible] dividends on the preferred and $6 a share for eternity on the common.

"Section 16. This gives an option to the Commonwealth to buy dollar for dollar the property of the road, and dollar for dollar includes amount paid in cash for stock outstanding, which includes preferred and about $112.50 per share for the common.

"I believe that in the entire Metropolitan district affected by this contract there are not 200 men who really know what it means or how binding, permanent and complete it is. If people but realized that the stock is practically equivalent to a State bond, it would not be selling at 80 and paying $6 per share, or equivalent to 7.5 p. c. on the money, with State bonds netting about 3.90 to 4 p. c."

MAINE CENTRAL.—

To M. O. N., Utica street.—In the early months of 1923 Maine Central suffered, like other New England roads, from severe weather conditions and embargoes. These factors seriously affected net earnings and put a dent in the 1923 prospects. For the first seven months of the year therefore, net railway operating income of $774,714 was $534,582 less than corresponding period of last year. Operating ratio was 86.46 per cent., against 83 per cent. There resulted a deficit of $394,341 after fixed charges, compared with a surplus of $181,664 after charges in the first seven months of 19[illegible]

GENERAL CIGAR.

To P. B. V., Salem.—[illegible] common—Junior shares [illegible] manufacturers [illegible] cigars [illegible] steady. Management [illegible] position [illegible] shares, $100 par [illegible] $4,200,000 debenture 7 [illegible] cumulative preferred. Current [illegible] dends $1[illegible] Net working capital [illegible] Dividend $6 annually. Appears fairly safe.

CHEMICAL MARKETS SHOW BETTERMENT

Drug and Chemical Markets says: In general conditions [illegible] the chemical, drug and allied [illegible] have shown a marked improvement in tone during the first half of September, [illegible] although it cannot be called heavy as yet, has shown signs of expanding and the orders [illegible] been for larger quantities. Of course, prices continue too low to [illegible] sales are firmer. Prussiates are easier. Calcium arsenate has softened again. Imported tartaric acid [illegible] higher, as might be expected, including menthol, camphor, agar agar, and [illegible]

QUOTATIONS REACT IN COTTON FUTURES

New York, Sept. 13.—Reactionary tendencies were noted in the cotton market today. Prices declined from 11 to 21 points on further selling due to easier Liverpool cables and reports of favorable weather in the belt. October sold at 27.65, off 11 points, December at 27.25, off 21, January at 26.95, off 13, and March at 26.93, off 11.

U. S. Steel Lives Up to Reputation for Market 'Scalpers'

U. S. Steel has just demonstrated that it can live up to its reputation among the State street "scalpers," who may not believe in business charts but who nevertheless place faith in signs and superstitions.

It has long been believed by them that when, on the swing [illegible] the [illegible] steel [illegible] on the top eighth for the day it is a sign that stock will sell next day at least a point off. If it closes in the low eighth for the day, it can be sold next day a point higher, they believe.

This week before the [illegible] Steel closed on the top eighth for the day and next day broke an even three points.

Radio Queries

GAS PIPE GROUND.

Radio Editor:

Can you inform me if there is any danger in connecting the ground wire to gas pipes? Is there any law preventing this? I am not acquainted with radio regulations in Massachusetts. Could you tell me where I could get a pamphlet telling about them H S O'K.

There is no law against it, but the underwriters have a regulation against it, and it is inefficient. Many gas meters are insulated from the ground, and the gas pipe is a poor conductor. Copies of the underwriters' regulations in regard to radio installation may be secured at most radio stores.

WD11'S AND 12'S.

Radio Editor:

What is the difference between the WD11 tube and the WD12? Which is the better of the two?

J. H.

The tubes are the same except for the bases. The 11 requires a special socket while the 12 takes the same socket as the UV200, etc.

CAN SALVAGE 6 OF DESTROYERS

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—Salvage [illegible] possible on six of the seven destroyers which piled [illegible] near Point Arguello last Saturday night. Captain Nutting, [illegible] charge of naval construction here, said after returning from a survey of the situation.

It will be possible to save the Chauncey intact, he said, and to remove the machinery from all of the others with the exception of the Delphy, which is broken in two. Salvage of the hulls of the more badly damaged and submerged vessels would be possible if the weather remains calm, Captain Nutting said, but it is doubted if such salvage would be wise, as there is a possibility that the shells would have to be scraped.

BOSTON AMERICAN
Largest Evening Circulation in New England—September 13, 1923

Many a Boston business man depends upon his wife for a clear conscience.—Mrs. C. G. Gilson, club woman.

Boston's total foreign trade for the year 1920 was next to the largest on record, ranking fifth among American ports.

When An African Lady Loses Her Nose Ring

Or a White Lady Loses Her Jewelry—Very Sad

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

Poor Mrs. Dowling dropped her handbag over the side of the yacht, and $30,000 of jewelry sank forever. There was a pearl necklace, $20,000; brooch, $4,000; rings, $4,000, etc. The REAL loss to the world would have been greater had the lady dropped a pound of butter. But you can't make the world believe that.

Ask the African lady how she feels when she loses her ivory nose ring. No consolation possible there.

However, white, rich ladies that weep over jewelry and poor black ladies that weep over a nose ring are not the only foolish creatures on earth. Men mourn over things less important than a nose ring, or a string of pearls, such as the vanity of office, failure to acquire a useless decoration or something else.

We are chasers of rainbows from the cradle to the grave, and of all known things there is nothing much less valuable than the rainbow when you CHASE it. As things to look at, the rainbow and the diamond are beautiful. But as a thing to go after and LONG for, one is as disappointing as the other. The rainbow is mere mist; the pearl is an oyster's annoyance.

War's the Thing—

And Mussolini Knows It

Copyright, 1923, Star Co

During his years of active Socialism, before he was Dictator of Italy, Mussolini studied history. He knows that one, above all things, keeps rulers in their places, and that is WAR. It turns criticism into unreasoning, flaming patriotism.

Promises, plans, benevolence, all melt away, but WAR [illegible]

And one or two victories, to fire national vanity, may make a man safer on his throne than years of good government.

Mussolini's trip to Greece is no accident; it is well thought out. The time had come for him to supplement in some striking way the black shirts and Fascisti salutes.

Mussolini's attitude worries Serbia, and well may. In a spasm of sentimentalism after the war, new governments were set up, new boundaries established. Mussolini and other Italians know that the east coast of the Adriatic has been built, taught and civilized by Romans and Italians for more than two thousand years and that the final arrangement at Versailles overrode and violated Italian rights. Mussolini will fix that if he can, and Italians will be back of him in the effort.

England Knows How

Diplomacy More Powerful Than Flying Machines, Perhaps

Copyright, 1923, Star Co

European news which interests us all, because there is no telling when we may be mixed up in it, pays a tribute to England's well established skill in diplomacy.

While England and France have been discussing the Ruhr, and France has been training her flying men, England has been building up agreements, treaties and alliances completely surrounding France

England probably has had enough fighting and won't have any more, if it can be avoided for the present. Her diplomats would like to go back to the days of Napoleon, when, until Waterloo, England stayed at home and let the rest of Europe do the fighting

New English alliances quietly and unofficially made with the smaller countries might easily be followed by an understanding between England and Russia, and England and Germany. That would worry France and Poland.

Good Work Takes Time

This Applies to Abraham Lincoln and Others

Copyright, 1923, Star Co

Mr. Dodge, professor of English in the University of Illinois, says he can prove that Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address was NOT hastily written on the back of an envelope as he traveled to the battlefield, but was the result of ten days' hard, careful work.

There is no need of DOCUMENTARY evidence. The Gettysburg speech tells its own story. Every sentence makes clear the careful writing and rewriting. It was hard work and careful work. Lincoln had too much respect for the occasion to rely on inspiration. Such writing as the Gettysburg speech, or Gray's "Elegy" cannot be done offhand. Occasionally an almost superhuman genius like Shakespeare or Dante may write under inspiration and without revision. But that happens rarely.

Let Americans Have Profit

That Would Be a Pleasant Change

Copyright, 1923, Star Co

The Panama Canal made a profit of twelve million dollars last year—not allowing any interest on the American people's investment. Mr. Coolidge is asked to reduce the charges and let ships go through for a lower price.

Why not begin by letting American ships go through FREE, and thus doing away with one piece of sloppy sentimentality, which has compelled American boats to pay for the use of the canal after American taxpayers had built it?

Time enough to cut down charges after American shipping, which needs building up, heaven knows, goes through the canal without taxation.

"BONI" TO RE-ENTER POLITICS

PARIS, Sept. 13. — Marquis Boniface de Castellane, whose memoirs of his life as the husband of Anna Gould, now Duchesse de Talleyrand, are shortly to be published in America, is going back into politics.

The Marquis for some time has conserved his political ambitions and now appears as a fervent opponent of Premier Poincare and the occupation of the Ruhr.

He will be a candidate next year for a seat in Parliament from the Basse-Alpes Department

Appreciates Cartoon

Editor Boston American

In the Friday afternoon, September 7, edition of the Boston American there appeared a group sketch of persons attending the convention of the American Legion at Marblehead. This sketch has caused the same admiration for the American, and especially for the work of your artist, Mr. Harmony, that his many previous drawings have. His work along this line is unique, and we all enjoyed these convention sketches.

I would consider it a great favor if I could secure the original drawing of these sketches, so that I might add them to my collection of Legion activities and drawings.

Anticipating a favorable reply, and with deepest feeling for the success of your paper, I am

Very truly yours,
JAMES T. DUANE,
Past Department Commander.

Short Weight Brains

Editor Boston American:

While in Europe recently I heard this remark: "The American girl has short length hair and short weight brains." Let us hope that this type are in the minority, but what the modern girl sees in these chopped-off sleeves and pound-weight earrings is a mystery to me. I doubt the quoted remark, but it does seem as though many of our girls find it a painful effort to be sensible

Grateful to A. M. B.

Editor Helping Hand.

I wish to thank you very much for the things I received from A. M. B. She sent me a box of lovely things for myself. I would like to get some clothes for my husband, size about 40, as he is in rags. I wonder if any of the readers could help me with my back rent which I have got down to $12 50, which the landlord says must be paid at once or out we go. I have four small children and my husband has been working only three or four days a week. I would send the money back a little at a time. I have a few dresses to fit a girl of four if anybody wants them, also some magazines.

Wants Old Sheets

Editor Helping Hand:

Is there anyone of your kind readers that would care to send me some pieces of old sheets, table cloths or parts of worn out blankets? I have four small children and could use such pieces. I also could use anything that could be spared to me for the little ones, girls, nine, six and four, and a boy of two. I almost hate to ask, as there seems to be so many in need and I have nothing to offer in return

MRS. T. J.

Offers Mother Home

Editor Helping Hand.

In answer to letter from Mrs. M. S. 5 in the Helping Hand column, I can give her and the baby a good home and make her one of the family. We are good, plain working people. We live about fifteen miles out of Boston in the country. I cannot afford to pay much, but can pay some, and can help her to clothe the baby. I have two children, and she would be a help to me. I can give good references.

MRS. G.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. S. 5.

Gifts for Mrs. H. M. D.

The Editor wishes to thank A. S. and Mrs. B. for gifts of two dollars each for Mrs. H. M. D., whose address has been sent to them.

Has Pair of Crutches

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a pair of crutches that a person about 5 feet 5 inches in height could use. Kindly tell party they will have to send for them. I received a lovely letter from Mrs. K., thanking me for everything, and also the Boston American for helping her so much

MRS. A. A.

Thank you for the offer of crutches. We will retain the offer pending replies.

Has Place for Woman

Editor Helping Hand:

Kindly send me the address of Mrs. M. S. 5, or if she has found a place and you know of anybody else who would prefer a good home to a large wage, kindly send me their address. Would be perfectly willing to take a mother with a small child. I think you are doing a wonderful work

MRS. D. B. W.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. S. 5.

Blind in One Eye

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a young woman of twenty-five years and am blind in my right eye and am under care of a doctor. I want to ask some kind lady to send me any old clothes she has discarded. I would appreciate them very much. Hope some one will help me through my trouble.

A SURVEY OF THE WORLD IN FIVE MINUTES

By Herbert Kaufman

THE most important piece of information for several million readers is Cy Williams' thirty-sixth home run and his consequent election to the Ruth throne.

A smaller and self-selected circle will find equal thrills in the rumor of marriage between our Miss Vanderbilt and Prince George of Great Britain.

About one reader in a thousand will bother to learn that unfavorable weather balked the conclusive application of Einstein's theory to the solar eclipse, but for that matter, not one person in a hundred thousand (among whom the writer unabashedly counts himself) has the faintest notion of what Einstein's driving at.

Newspapers must be mental bazaars, with a booth for every human interest. Today's stock of events is especially comprehensive.

Japan revises estimates of deaths at Tokyo and raises the figure to 110,000. Ambassador Woods cables that fifty-eight Americans perished in the disaster. All correspondents are agreed that the primary problem of relief is now medical. Typhoid, following fast on the drinking of putrescent and infected water, adds its threat to the menace of cholera.

The shock in India seems restricted to the Calcutta district.

Aldrinach, demon of earthquakes and shipwrecks, is evidently content with present mischief and again asleep in her subterranean lair.

All's quiet along the Adriatic. Mussolini promises to release hostage Greek islands the moment national honor is satisfied. And "Italy," he proudly boasts, "never breaks her word."

Wires between Berlin and Paris are smoking with discussions. There's actually a chance of resumed negotiations. Stresemann indicates serious intent to mobolize private wealth behind reparation pledges and evinces readiness to abandon passive resistance, once given allied guarantees that the Reich will be left intact should a mutually acceptable indemnity basis be reached.

Argentine examines her potentialities as a cotton producer, If climate and soil are propitious, boundless acres will be devoted to plantations. Twenty-eight cent cotton looks better to the Yankees of South America than dollar wheat and steadily diminishing cattle returns.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON NAPOLEON'S TOMB

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

BEING in Paris recently I was shocked by the neglected appearance of the great dome of the Invalides, which covers the tomb of Napoleon. It was in a worse state than when I saw it two years ago. The gilding is almost entirely gone, so that the huge exterior ribs radiating from the top to the base look black, ragged and ugly.

But, whatever the cause of the neglect may be, it does not extend to the interior. There, bathed in its familiar purple tinted light, the quintessence of the most refined part of the spectrum, the grand tomb of the great captain continues to carry the thoughts of every beholder back to the glories of Cyrus, Alexander and Caesar, almost the only names that history possesses fit to be linked with that of this modern conqueror of nations and master of men

Here there is no neglect. The splendid sarcophagus of Finland granite, brought from the Far North, where nature herself at last confronted him with her stern command, "No farther!" has lost none of its magic influence over the imagination. I stood long on the marble steps at the side of the great circular opening below which the tomb rests on its lofty pedestal and watched men and women with thoughtful faces approach the marble railing and look down, some with parted lips as if catching their breath, some with an indescribable look like that of those who see a vision, while many leaned long upon the railing, dreamily lingering, and returning again and again to look just once more, to fasten some bewildering impression more deeply in the memory

There is a mingling of solemnity and awe in the bearing of the crowds of almost silent visitors. The aspect of those twelve colossal white guardians that stand in a great circle around the tomb, all with downcast eyes and stern, thoughtful faces, would alone impose a sense of reverence upon all visitors

The faded battle flags in the niches, and the terrific battle names inscribed in the rays of a sunburst on the pavement about the tomb—"Rivoli," "Pyramids," "Marengo," "Austerlitz," "Jena," "Friedland," "Wagram," "Moscowa"—all look the same as they did many years ago, and thrill with their old power in this peace-dreaming, but not peace-attaining, era.

THREE-MINUTE TRIPS

WHERE A GIRL FASTS BEFORE HER DEBUT

By Temple Manning

THE "girl's dance" is one of the interesting customs of the Washoe Indians of Nevada, and fortunate is the traveler who witnesses this ceremony.

A party is given by a family who invite all of their friends to partake in the festivities with them. Dancing is the chief feature of the evening's entertainment and starts promptly at 8 o'clock.

There is not much variety in the dancing, for these Indians simply join hands in a large circle and move around step by step, chanting a weird, monotonous air seemingly without any words or significance.

This dance seems to take the form of an endurance test rather than an amusement. Even commercialism enters into it, because as the early morning hours wear on—for the dancing lasts until daylight—the dancers are paid by the family giving the party for their energy and ability to "stick it out."

Twining in and out and weaving their way among the dancers at such a fete is always seen a young girl accompanied by an older woman

The girl appears worn and tired and leans wearily on a long staff. This seems strange at first, because it is for her that the party is given. For this is a debutante dance. The girl is being presented to society with the clear understanding that she is now on the marriage market.

No wonder the poor girl is listless—she has been starved for four days. This is the proper thing in fashionable Washoe circles. But after midnight she cheers up, for it is then that an elaborate feast is offered, when everybody is served to full capacity by the hospitable host and hostess.

When the sun creeps over the hills, the ceremony draws to a close. But it does not end until the debutante retires into her teepee, is bedecked with branches, and reappears.

Then, from the branches decorating her person, she draws money and throws it to her guests, who scramble for it with loud shouts.

The final event on the program is the dousing of the debutante by throwing a large bucket of water over her.

When this has taken place, our young Indian maid is launched in society—she is "out," and from that day is prepared for, but is waiting, a proposal of marriage.

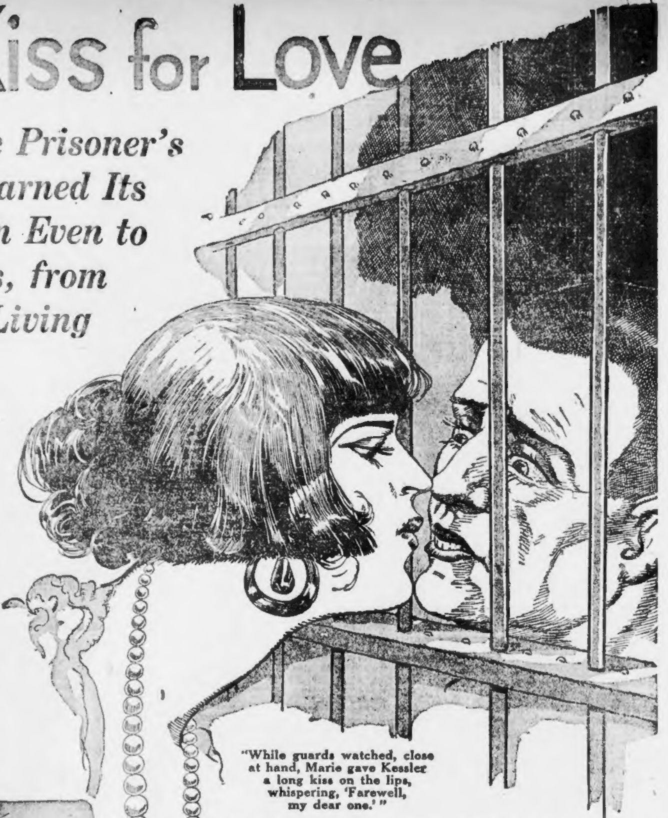
A Deadly Poison Kiss for Love

How the Desperate Prisoner's Pretty "Sister" Learned Its Secret, Unknown Even to the Cruel Borgias, from Their Innocent Living Descendant

Lucrezia Bori, Modern Descendant of the Borgia Family, Whose Poisoned Kiss in an Opera Suggested to Marie Kessler a Way to Kill Her Sweetheart.



"While guards watched, close at hand, Marie gave Kessler a long kiss on the lips, whispering, 'Farewell, my dear one.'"

Nathan Kessler, Whose Adoring "Sister" Gave Him the "Kiss of Death" While He Was in Moyamensing Prison, Philadelphia.

One of the Recently Discovered Rings of Rodrigo Borgia, with Which He Slew His Enemies. Diagram Shows Pierced Jewel, Containing a Deadly Hypodermic Needle.

A POISON secret that the Borgias never knew!

Yet learned—strangely enough—by a desperate young girl of to-day from a living descendant of the famous Borgia family!

It is the "kiss of death."

The girl who learned it—and put it to a deadly use—called herself Marie Kessler, though her real name remains a mystery.

A modern representative of the great medieval line which numbered Caesar Borgia, Pope Alexander VI and Lucretia Borgia among its members, is the beautiful opera singer, Lucrezia Bori, said to be a lineal descendant of the famous Spanish family. She bears the same name, with a slight difference in spelling—for Bori and Borgia are Spanish variations of one name.

Miss Bori is proud of her descent, and justly so, for the Borgias were a great and noble family. Modern United Italy itself is a monument to their genius, and if it is true that some of them were experts in poisoning their enemies, it must be remembered that they lived in a time when such methods among the great were the rule rather than the exception.

It is needless to say that the modern Lucrezia Bori knows nothing whatever about poisons, and that she is innocent as a lamb of any direct connection with the tragedy which is recounted on this page. She knows none of the individuals involved, and in all probability has never even heard of them.

Yet by a coincidence, over which she had no control, she figures in this story, as you shall presently see.

Now forget the opera singer for a moment and visit, in your imagination, a cell in Moyamensing prison, Philadelphia. In that cell is—or was—a young man by the name of Nathan Kessler—for he is dead, slain at his own request by the sweetheart who posed as his sister.

Kessler, intrinsically, was not a very interesting young man—a poor, weak victim of circumstances, rather, who, if he were alive, would be greatly surprised to see his picture in a newspaper. He was a thief, and not a big thief at that. He had been convicted of stealing $500 worth of jewelry. In addition, he had made a pretty thorough mess of his life, and when he found himself in a prison cell he became depressed, and made no secret of the fact that he wanted to die. In fact, he threatened suicide.

Because of this threat the prison authorities set a guard over him and watched him so carefully that he couldn't carry it out. They saw that he had nothing with which he might hang or cut himself. They gave him neither knife nor fork, but made him eat his food with a blunt spoon. When visitors came to see him, guards watched to see that they conveyed to him no hatpin, knife or poison.

Poor, little mournful Kessler was not nearly so important as all that. It is doubtful if the prison officials would have cared if he had jumped into the river while outside their custody, but they didn't want the scandal of a suicide in their prison, and so they watched him carefully.

But there was one person in the world to whom Kessler was intensely important—his sweetheart. She had been to visit him. She loved him. She knew that he wanted, above all else, to end his miseries by death. He was able to influence her and she agreed to help him die. But how?

For a long time she thought and then she had an inspiration. Earlier in the Spring she had gone with him to the gallery of the Academy of Music in Philadelphia on a Tuesday night, where they had seen the Metropolitan Opera Company, with Lucrezia Bori, in a beautiful but tragic music drama of love, murder and suicide, "The "The Love of Three Kings." In this opera the hero dies from a kiss—from poison which has been smeared upon the lips of his sweetheart—a role played by Lucrezia Bori.

Now Kessler's sweetheart remembered this episode and built her own plot upon it. A week later the girl, who was something of a beauty, appeared at the prison, saying she was Kessler's sister, that she wished to kiss him good-by. She is described as slender, dark-haired, of the Oriental type, her fingers heavy with diamonds, wearing jewel-studded bracelets and jade pedant earrings.

The girl, after first being searched by a matron, was admitted to the corridor facing Kessler's cell. While guards watched close at hand, she talked with him in whispers, and a few moments later gave him a long kiss on the lips, after which she said, "Farewell, my dear one," and went away. And Kessler died.

What had happened, as they afterward discovered, was this: The girl had braved death herself by secreting in her mouth a small quantity of deadly poison, wrapped tightly in several folds of cigarette paper. The poison was transferred to Kessler's mouth by means of the kiss. Fifteen minutes later he was dead.

The police know this from having found shreds of the cigarette paper. They also have a pretty definite suspicion as to the identity of the girl, but there would be a great deal of difficulty in proving any case against her. She has no criminal record of any kind, and her only "crime" seems to have been that she helped her sweetheart commit suicide at his own request. It would be impossible even to indict her for murder, much less get a conviction, so that it is quite likely the authorities, applying common sense rather than strict rules of justice to this extraordinary tragedy, may not press the matter.

You will probably never hear of this girl again, but by doing what she did she figures in one of the most interesting poison cases known to the authorities since medieval times.

The people of the middle ages knew many poison secrets which are not used in the twentieth century—but none exactly like this one. A manuscript has recently been discovered, showing that Catherine de Medici, queen-mother of France, was accustomed to use poisoned perfumes to rid herself of her private enemies.

Rodrigo Borgia, said to have been one of the world's greatest poisoners, had two favorite devices. One was the famous Borgia ring. There were, so far as is known, three varieties. The first was a heavy gold one with a lion's head, the mouth open. The teeth of the lion were sharp-pointed steel needles embedded in the gold. When Borgia shook hands with a friend the lion's head was on the back of his hand, on top of the finger, as a ring is normally worn, and no harm resulted. When he shook hands with an enemy whom he wanted to slay he turned the head inward and inflicted a slight scratch on the hand held tightly in his grasp. The scratch was sufficient to cause death. The second variation of the ring was the substitution of a serpent's head, with steel needle fangs, instead of the lion. A third, more complicated ring, recently discovered, had a tiny hypodermic needle in the centre of a movable pierced jewel.

Rodrigo Borgia's second favorite device was a jewel casket, which had a lock difficult to open, and a small key, on which there was a jagged poisoned point which pierced the hand when one tried to turn the key.

The famous and beautiful Marquise de Brinvilliers, who was tortured and executed in France for having poisoned her husband and other members of her family, was said to be the possessor of poison secrets which have since been lost.

Poisoned gloves, poisoned medicine balls, poisoned walking-stick handles and many other strange devices were known in the middle ages, but the "kiss of death," by which Nathan Kessler was enabled to commit suicide, seems to constitute an entirely unique method, wholly unknown in the time of the Borgias.

"A Glass of Wine with Caesar Borgia." From the Famous Painting by the Hon. John Collier. (The great poisoner often did away with his foes in this fashion.)

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

MEDBURY says new matrimonial law will make the possession of can-openers a misdemeanor.

A MAYOR out west is trying to put through a law making every woman pass a test before she gets married. Too many dames who can't cook or sew have been leading men to the altar under false pretenses.

IF this law succeeds, a man will know that as soon as he buys a wedding ring and pays the minister he will no longer have to eat in restaurants.

WHILE this idea is not run like a union, still it will be a misdemeanor for a dame to walk down the church aisle without a working card.

HER wedding certificate will be worthless unless it is signed by the secretary of labor.

THE by-laws call for at least two home-cooked meals a day and abolishes can-openers.

OUT of every twenty-four hours, she must spend at least eight of them in the kitchen.

THE rules and regulations strictly prohibit husbands from going near the scullery while their wives are doing the dishes.

THE average man hates to see his wife work and if he's compelled to stay away from the kitchen it will stop him from having to watch her.

WHEN a dame becomes engaged the first thing she thinks of is quitting her job and never once considers darning socks or scrubbing floors.

CITY LIFE MUST BE HURRIED.

As a new comer in a city you are probably impressed with its coldness.

You see so many, each intent upon one thing or another, pushing ahead in certain lines, or pushing toward the end of the journey they are making.

But isn't it natural for one to mush ahead, minding one's own business?

So you will get the same spirit—you must get it, to succeed.

Often you wish for the easy-going sorts of persons that you left back in the old home town.

It is all right for them to move leisurely in the small place, but it will not do in the big city.

The larger the town the faster it moves. More is expected and demanded. Greater competition means greater effort to keep up.
